'Golden Rain' Falls Throughout Southland

DROUGHT IS BROKEN BY SNOW AND SHOWERS

Crops Receive Big Benefit By Downpour; Various Sections Visited

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—Coming as a welcome climax to Southern California, a "golden rain" which benefited ranchers and dairymen to the extent of thousands of dollars and broke one of the longest drought periods ever experienced, started early yesterday and continued intermittently until early today.

Nearly an inch of rain fell at several places in Southern California before the showers slackened early today and weather and farm bureau experts declared the rain had reached proportions which guaranteed a huge and lasting crop.

Goes Into Arizona

Colonel H. B. Hersey, in charge of the United States weather bureau here, declared the showers might continue today at various points in Southern California, although the center of the storm had passed into Arizona.

The precipitation was general throughout Southern California, the only section not touched being the extreme southeastern part of Imperial valley.

The dairy industry throughout Southern California was saved from approaching ruin by the rain. Milk took a 2-cent per quart advance because of the drought, as

INJURIES FATAL TO GLENDALE MAN

Elevator Hurls Fred Brown To Basement, Dies In Hospital Later

Caught between an elevator and the second floor in a big department store in Los Angeles Friday night, Fred F. Brown of 1415 North Kenwood street, fell to the basement, receiving injuries that caused his death ten minutes after he had been removed to a Los Angeles hospital.

Mr. Brown, who was head night man in the great store building, was in the act of entering a passenger elevator on the second floor, when the operator started the elevator up. Mr. Brown fell on his back and was caught between the car and floor. When the car went up Mr. Brown fell from the second floor to the basement.

An inquest into the accident is to be held this afternoon in Los Angeles. Reports state that the elevator was an old one, a type fast being replaced by the modern ones in the building.

Hold Funeral Tuesday

Surviving Mr. Brown are his widow, Mrs. E. R. Brown; a daughter, Myrtle Brown Bradford of Burbank, and two sons, Archie S. Brown and Jack Y. Brown.

Mr. Brown, who was 45 years of age at the time of his death, was born in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada. The family came to California a year ago.

The deceased was a member of the Odd Fellows' lodge and the Christian Missionary Alliance church.

Funeral services are to be held at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn cemetery. Rev. C. H. Chrisman, pastor of the Christian Missionary Alliance, will officiate.

High Lights From Clagstone's Talk At C. C. Luncheon

The United States Chamber of Commerce is non-sectional and non-partisan. It must speak for the business of the country as a whole.

The fight for private initiative in every business field is the most valuable service the United States Chamber of Commerce can tender any community.

The average state legislator is honest and well meaning, but he is often poorly informed. The same statement can be applied to our national legislators, who are not trained business men, as a rule.

Transportation problems cannot be settled by rapid legislation.

The International Chamber of Commerce is saving immense sums and much time in the arbitration of trade disputes between business men of different countries.

I want to see some representatives of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce in Cleveland in May.

General Dawes gave the credit for the passage of the budget law to the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Prayers for rain were answered Saturday night, Sunday and early this morning when 1.28 inches fell upon Glendale and this part of the San Fernando valley, bringing the seasonal record up to 3.76 inches.

Pluvius smiled more sweetly on Glendale than any other city in the entire rain area, with the exception of San Luis Obispo, the moisture that fell here Saturday and Sunday totaling 1.28 inches, compared with but .39 for Los

GIRLS SAVED BY PLUCKY FIREMAN

Lives of Many Threatened In Denver Blaze at Club Building

DENVER, March 3.—Tommy Gross, negro fireman, was the hero of a fire early this morning that threatened for a time to destroy the clubhouse of the Lafayette Young Woben's club, occupied by about 100 girls.

With a ladder thrown against the building, Gross hastily scaled it and, bracing himself at the top, caught two girls as they jumped and carried them through a thick cloud of smoke to sofety. Only the quick work of the firemen in entering the building and breaking out the windows, saved many of the girls and fire fighters from being overcome. Four companies fought the fire before it was extinguished.

MERCHANTS HEAR C. C. MANAGER

Western Division Head Is Speaker at Gathering Of Local Bodies

Concentrated efforts of the business men of the western states will result in continued good business throughout the United States, Paul Clagstone, manager of the western division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, told members of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and Glendale Merchants' Association, at a special joint meeting held today noon at the Egyptian Village.

Mr. Clagstone, with headquarters in San Francisco, is at the head of the organization made up of Chamber of Commerce in Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Washington, Oregon, Utah and California.

Gets Suggestions

The manner in which the United States Chamber of Commerce, the parent association, work, was outlined by Mr. Clagstone in his address. He told his audience how suggestions were received from various Chambers of Commerce in all parts of the country, many of these ideas and suggestions being in conflict, and the United States Chamber of Commerce acted as a clearning house for all.

The country has been divided into four divisions, and managers placed at the head of each division, Mr. Clagstone said. This enables each section of the United States to look after the needs of its own states, and to meet the conditions found there.

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the western meeting in San Francisco recently was reviewed by Mr. Clagstone, and plans for the next annual meeting, which will be held in Los Angeles, were outlined.

Details of the program for the national convention, to be held in Cleveland May 6 to 8, were told by the speaker.

Budget System

One of the many acts of legislation sponsored by the national organization and which has been a saving to every business man in the country, is the budget system, Mr. Clagstone said. Prominent government officials have figured that the saving each year under the budget system amounts to approximately $5 for each person, he said, thus showing an example of the work of the chamber in dollars and cents.

"But the work of the national chamber can not be expressed in dollars and cents," Mr. Clagstone said. "Government officials have learned, since the national chamber was formed, to depend upon the organization for assistance in business matters. These are the things that cannot be figured in cold cash."

Transportation

One of the most important features of the chamber's work, he

KIRK WRITES OF ROBBERY DETAILS

Local Man Describes How He Lost All of His Money In Italy

"Arabian Knights" offered the thrilling account of "The Forty Thieves," probably of the same clever tribe that W. B. Kirk, whose travel letters are being enjoyed by readers of The Glendale Evening News, says he encountered in Milan, Italy."

He states: "I lost my entire stock of funds by having my pocketbooks extracted from the inside pocket of my coat by a gang of thieves."

Warned of Thieves

Mr. Kirk and his daughter, bent on seeing the original celebrated mural painting "The Last Supper" by Leonardo Da Vinci, in the wing of an old church, "Santa Maria Della Gracia," went to the old church by taxi, arriving after 4 o'clock, the hour of closing. Mr. Kirk writes: "We had told our chauffeur to wait for us, but he didn't do so and we decided to take a train as we knew we could reach the hotel that way by changing cars near the Cathedral.

"I had been warned that there are many thieves in Milan, but my thought was distracted by an accident that occurred to a passenger or pedestrian and when we changed cars we were pushed and jostled by three or four men, one of whom seemed to be trying to crowd past me, but whom I took to be drunk. After we had gotten out I discovered that my pocketbooks were gone as had also the men.

Reports to Police

"Not suspecting them I had scarcely looked at their faces. To try to follow or find them in a strange city, where I couldn't speak a word of the language was like trying to find the proverbial needle and I didn't attempt it.

"To be in a foreign city, far from home, with scarcely a dollar, is an unenviable situation. As soon as possible I reported the matter to central police headquarters as best I could and then to the large bank, where I had drawn some funds only four or five hours previously. I was assured that the thieves would not attempt to secure any money on my letter of credit, but of course am very uneasy about it.

"The idea that after all my years of experience in travel through America I should be robbed as easily as this was certainly cause for chagrin and humiliation! But we must get home so I cabled that night for money, paying the full toll of about a dollar a word so as to hasten its transmission. I received it Friday afternoon! In the meantime the hotel people were nice to us, but we took no further interest in seeing Milan.

CHARGE ATTEMPT TO 'GET' WALSH

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Enemies are endeavoring to "get" Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, a principal prosecutor of the oil scandal, it was charged on the floor of the Senate this afternoon by his colleague, Senator Wheeler. To support his charges, wheeler received a letter sent E. C. Shields, a Montana labor leader, by Fred R. Marvin, an associate editor of the New York Commercian in which Marvin asked "the low down" on Walsh.

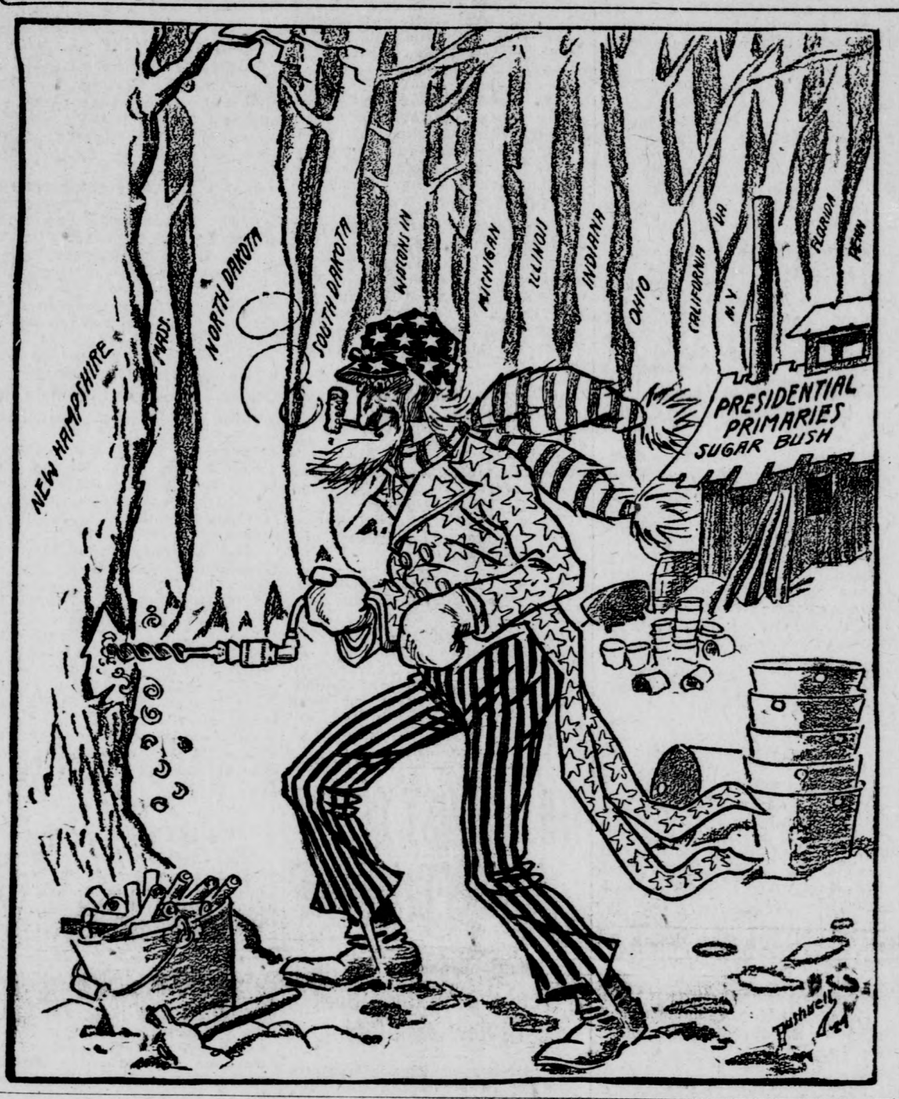
$100,000,000 CORPORATION FAILS

NEW YORK, March 3.—The Virginia-Carolina Chemical company failed today. The federal court for the district of New Jersey appointed C. G. Wilson, president of the company, and Arthur C. Vanderbilt as receivers. The concern, one of the largest and oldest of its kind in the country, was a $100,000,000 corporation.

COMMITTEE FAVORS FILIPINO FREEDOM

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Legislation granting complete independence to the Philippines was voted on favorably today by the House insular affairs committee. It was explained, however, that some members of the committee were opposed to making the Philippines independent, but voted for the bill in order to give the House an opportunity to act either for or against.

TAPPING POLITICAL TIMBER



BRITISH, FRENCH NEARING ACCORD

More Amicable Relationship Sought by Premiers of European Powers

LONDON, March 3.—Opinion was held in all circles today that an Anglo-French accord is nearer than it has been at any time in more than a year, as a result of a frank letter addressed by Premier Ramsay Macdonald to Premier Poincare asking for closer and more amicable relations.

The communications exchanged between the two premiers were given out for publication in Monday morning newspapers.

Practically all London papers applauded Macdonald's firmness and frankness, especially his open declaration that the British people were suspicious of the mighty air fleet built up by the French.

Further letters will be exchanged and it is believed the premiers will meet for a personal conference after the sessions of reparations experts.

Modification Is Expected

Terms of conciliation are seen in Poincare's reply. Poincare asked for a closer understanding with Great Britain and explained that the French had no desire to annex the territory of any other nation. He said the Ruhr was occupied merely in order to bring pressure upon Germany to obtain reparations payments.

Macdonald's firmness, coupled with Italy's displeasure over France's actions and Belgium's weariness of French policy are expected to lead to a modification of France's program which will make a general European settlement easier.

Great Britain wants the United States to participate actively in such a settlement.

Mrs. Candler Free In Atlanta 'Dive' Charge

W. J. Stoddard, one of the men arrested with her, was held under a $3,000 bond. G. W. Keeling, the other man, was acquitted with Mrs. Candler.

COOLIDGE DENIES VANDERLIP CLAIM

'Ridiculous' Says Executive Of Resignation Demand On Daugherty

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Frank A. Vanderlip's assertion that President Coolidge has asked for the resignation of Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty but had not recevied it, was characterized at the White House today as "too ridiculous to dignify by a denial."

President Coolidge has not asked for the attorney-general's resignation, it was said, but if he does ask for it he will get it.

Ready With Proof

NEW YORK, March 3.—Confronted with the White House denial that President Coolidge had asked for the resignation of Attorney-General Daugherty and had been met with refusal, Frank A. Vanderlip, New York financier, today reiterated his charge.

"I am prepared to prove my statement in the face of President Coolidge's denial," Vanderlip said when read a Washington dispatch containing the White House denial.

"I not only know that President Coolidge requested Attorney-General Daugherty to resign, but I know the exact date and circumstances under which the request occurred," Vanderlip declared.

"If I am called upon by the committee in Washington, I will go down and prove it to them," he added. "I will give out no details to anyone until asked by the committee."

PROBE OF FATAL BLAST LAUNCHED

Officials Seek to Fix Blame For Explosion Causing Eighteen Deaths

NIXON, N. J., March 3.—Efforts were being made today by Middlesex county authorities to fix the blame for the explosion which Saturday destroyed the plant of the Nixon Nitration company here, took the lives of at least eighteen persons and injured one hundred more.

Lewis and Stanhope Nixon, owners of the razed plant, and R. Norris Shreve, president of the Ammonite company, which owned the explosive material, were called into conference at the county prosecutor's office with army officers from the adjoining arsenal at Raritan, and survivors of the blast.

Many Deaths Feared

In addition to the eighteen known dead, two others are missing and of the fifteen seriously injured in various hospitals, it is feared many will die.

Opinions varied as to the cause of the explosion. Officials of the nitrate plant believed small quantities of TNT had been left in the ammonium nitrate when it was extracted from shells at the arsenal and sent to their plant, while Major A. S. Casa, in command at Raritan, was equally sure the explosion was caused by chemical conditions in connection with the making of fertilizer from the nitrate at the plant and not due to carelessness in leaving TNT in the mixture at the arsenal.

Navy Flyer Killed When Plane Crashes

WASHINGTON, March 3.—One man was killed and two others slightly injured today when a Douglas torpedo plane in which they were flying got out of control and plunged into the Potomac river. DAUGHERTY'S TRIAL WILL BRING OUT NUMEROUS SECRETS

Nearly Every Department o Government to Become Involved, Claim

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The trial of Attorney Genera Harry M. Daugherty before an admittedly hostile Senate committee may prove the political sensation of a decade.

It is entirely probable that more than one political skeleton will be forced to rattle its grisly bones in the light of publicity before the investigation of Daugherty's conduct of the department of justice is completed.

May Involve Many

While on the face of the record, only Harry M. Daugherty himself is on trial on charge of malfeasance in office and neglect of duty, actually the trial of the attorney-general is indirectly a trial of the Republican administration, of which he always has been one of the outstanding figures.

Ramifications of the Daugherty investigation will spread into nearly every department of the government, for no department of the government is so closely related with all other departments as is the department of justice. And foes of the administration are planning to extend the present inquiry into many phases of government activity, especially the prohibition unit, the treasury department, the internal revenue bureau, the shipping board, the alien property, with all of whose affairs the department of justice has at one time or another been concerned.

Hear Much Scandal

The Brookhart committee already has become the repository for every choice morsel of scandal and gossip floating around the capital.

The Democrats are confident of getting a "conviction"—if not actually proving malfeasance on the part of the attorney-general, at least they are confident of proving such a laxity of administration that President Coolidge will be forced to do what he has thus far been unwilling to do—request the resignation of the attorney-general in writing.

On the other hand, the friends of Daugherty are equally confident that the investigation will be fruitless of result, insofar as "getting anything on Daugherty" is concerned. Inspired perhaps by the steadfast attitude of the attorney general himself, they believe that before the investigation is many days old they can "show it up" to the country to be a highly sensational political maneuver, inaugurated just as a presidential campaign is getting under way.

Plan Open Hearing

Daugherty's friends charge, too, that it is not the attorney-general alone that those behind the investigation wish to besmirch, but the entire Republican party and the Harding-Coolidge administration—all this in the face of an

DINES REPORTED ON HUNTING TRIP

Denver Sportsman Wanted In Shooting Affair Must Appear March 19

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—Courtland S. Dines, Denver sportsman, who was shot and seriously wounded on New Year's night by Horace Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, and who has been unable to appear in court at any time since, was reported today to have slipped out of the city on a hunting trip. It was stated at Dines' abode that it is not known where he is nor when he will return.

Justice J. Walter Hanby, who is hearing Greer's preliminary hearing, declared it was permissable for Dines to have left the city but declared emphatically he had better be back and appear in court on March 19, the date set for Dines to be cross-examined by District Attorney Keyes on his "I don't remember" story of the shooting.

Ripley Jackson, who has guarded the outer office ever since Glendale became an independent postoffice in December, 1921. She has a large circle of friends in social circles as well as among the postal employes who wish her the utmost happiness.

LEGION POST AT FLAG SERVICES

Impressive Ceremonies Held At Church as National Colors Presented

Impressive in its simplicity, yet beautiful in its expression was the service dedicating the national flag at the Glendale Presbyterian church last night, participated in by Rev. W. E. Edmonds, members of the congregation and representatives of the local post of the American Legion.

Following the opening ceremonies, the flag, of rustling silk, which was originally presented to the church years ago by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Peterson, who are now members of the Emanuel church of Los Angeles, was presented by Miss Mabel Harrison, dressed as Columbia, to Rev. Edmonds, who, in turn, gave it to Deacon George Lemon, who carried it to its resting place behind the pulpit to the right of the choir loft.

Weller Is Speaker

In addition to the remarks made by Rev. Edmonds, a short dedicatory address was made by Frank C. Weller, assemblyman from the Sixty-first district, member of the local Legion post. He spoke of the common ideals of the church and the Legion, and the need for reverence for the flag. He closed by reciting "Your Flag and My Flag."

Following this Rev. Edmonds delivered the third of his series of sermons on the "Ten Commandments," his subject being "Thou Shalt Not Take the Name of the Lord Thy God in Vain."

A large delegation from Glendale Post No. 127 of the Legion, headed by Commander Joseph A. Wilson, was present at the request of Rev. Edmonds.

Celebrates Initial Leap Year Birthday

Lillian Vivian Louise Russell looked forward for the past four years to her first birthday party. On Friday, February 29, her mother, Mrs. C. Earl Russell, entertained a group of Vivian Louise's little friends and their mothers at a pretty party at their home, 561 West South street.

Red and white were the colors used by Mrs. Russell in decorating for the birthday celebration. Vivian Louise wore a cunning frock of red and white and the birthday table appointments were all in the same colors.

A big bouquet of red carnations was the centerpiece, and at the places were queer gum drop figures and red snappers concealing favor caps and prizes. Before the little honoree's place was a huge red and white birthday cake with candles.

During the afternoon Vivian Louise received a bouquet of red roses from her grandmother, Mrs. Alice Russell of El Monte.

COMMUNITY SING ACTS AS MAGNET

Crowds Throng School House As Canadian Vocalist Renders Program

The usual large attendance at the regular Community Sing was more than doubled last time, so great was the crowd, in fact, part of them had to be seated in the corridors of the local school house.

Instead of Director Prosper providing the entertainment for the evening as was planned, Mrs. Hopkins presented Miss Helen White of Toronto, Canada. Miss White, who is a beautiful person, full of charm, delighted her audience with her glorious voice, being called back several times to respond with encores. Though a newcomer to this district, Miss White is not unknown in the musical world, having made records for the Edison phonograph and having sung with the Ampico. Miss White has also sung at Grauman's and has toured for four years in concert work. On Thursday of this week Director Prosper will give several numbers himself.

Mrs. Hopkins announces the chorus will give a dance on or about March 22, which will be to celebrate St. Patrick's feast day.

Director's Plans

Mr. Prosper, who is giving his services as director gratis, has some very ambitious plans regarding the work he intends to give the chorus members. He expects to use fifteen soprano voices, ten altos, eight tenors and six to eight bass voices, so all possessing the voice for chorus work are requested to get in touch with Mr. Prosper through Mrs. A. F. Hopkins, Community Sing manager, whose address is R. F. D. 1, Box 983. Mrs. Hopkins wishes all applicants to state the range of their voice.

Don't forget if you attend the sing this Thursday at the Montrose school house to bring your name to win the $5.00 prize for a suitable name for the Community Sing. The contest will close shortly, so don't forget—you may win the $5.00.

The board of directors of the Montrose Amusement Company held a meeting the other evening for the purpose of talking over the development of the new theatre, also to draw up new plans for a cheaper theatre, as the plans in the board's hands now are somewhat too elaborate for our town, at present, that is.

Mr. Leach has sold out his business interest in the meat market of the Motrose Market in the Reinhard building. Mr. Leach will rest for a short time.

Quits Bank Post

At the board meeting of the directors of the Montrose State Bank, Mr. Persons resigned as president, selling a greater portion of his stock to a Whittier Banker; C. A. Haskins, has been elected president of the institution in Mr. Persons' stead. Mr. Haskins, who was formerly cashier will open a financial loan house in Montrose and his place will be filled by a man who also hails from Whittier.

The Montecito club is contemplating changing the place of meetings. They have, to date, been using the Sparr Heights Community house, but felt it would be more convenient to be somewhere at home.

Tuesday, March 4, at 8 o'clock the Montrose Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Montrose school house. As there are a number of very important questions to be discussed Mr. Brown would appreciate a full membership attendance.

An attractive electric sign over the Harding Store for Men adds to the metropolitan appearance of Montrose, while the pavement outside of this store displays the sign "Shine." This will probably show the tremndous growth of this little town more than anything else, as where these handsome new brick buildings are, and more being erected, was two years ago, a field of mustard.

Mr. Heyers reports the sale of several of the lots in his new Honolulu Avenue subdivision. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers, joint owners, have built two very beautiful homes on the tract, which were designed by Harry Peters. The houses are of the quaint old English type.

On Wednesday of this week Rev. Dr. Renison of the Episcopal church at Eagle Rock will hold his first spiritual healing service here, at the home of Mrs. Culbertson. All are cordially invited to attend.

White Leghorn Lays Mammoth Cackleberry

The largest egg ever laid in Glendale, of which The News has official record, was brought into the office this morning by G. W. Parker of 1479 East California avenue, the product of one of his White Leghorns.

The egg is nearly as large as the hen, measuring 9½ inches around the waist. It is perfectly symmetrical, a matchless example of the egg maker's art.

This mammoth spheroid would make an omelet equivalent to one produced with eight ordinary eggs. Hens that could be depended upon to lay eggs like this would literally be worth their weight in gold, for a dozen such eggs, even at the price today, would bring $3, while a dozen such eggs in mid-winter would command the biggest part of a $10 bill—for they would be equivalent to 100 average eggs.

Fire Menace Is Serious
More Firefighters Needed
Other Countries' Problems
Good Building Record

By Gil A. Cowan

Seriousness of the fire menace in southern California if the dry season is continued is seen in dispatches from Sacramento which state Governor Richardson is ready to call out all of the national guard units to battle wth mountain blazes, if it is deemed necessary by forestry authorities.

At this writing more rain is awaited with the chances the entire state will be suffering from one of the greatest droughts, perhaps, which ever afflicted southern California. Ranchers have resorted to prayer, the rainmakers have been implored to act, and everyone gazes into the skies, watchfully waiting for relief. Some showers were reported over the week-end.

It is probable that March and April will see more rainfall, but not sufficient to saturate the thoroughly dried-out hills and land not under irrigation. The water level in the sub-irrigated areas has endangered the supplies from shallow wells, and rivers are not coursing their usual spring flood.

Lack of deep snows in the mountains has caused the Southern California Edison company much concern, but it is reported that this power concern is ready to meet the emergency with steam plants. Los Angeles is assured sufficient water for domestic purposes from its aqueduct to Owens river on the other side of the mountains.

Glendale will not suffer for water, although some southern California cities will face a shortage. The greatest fear, however, comes from the possibility of forest fires laying barren the watersheds, and that is what the local, county, state and national governments hope to avert by proper protection.

It is altogether probable that much of the national forest land in this section will be closed to campers and picnic parties. Patrols will have to be maintained on the highways cautioning the public to exercise the greatest care. Lookout stations will have to be built on mountain peaks and the public respond readily to the call for volunteers in the case of conflagration.

In this connection it is heartily recommended that Glendale now augment its fire-fighting force sufficiently to meet any emergency. Also, there should be a lookout station built atop Mount Verdugo.

Fortunately, both the Imperial and San Joaquin valleys are provided with almost inexhaustible irrigation sources, and crops in these great market baskets will not suffer. Therefore, none need fear for the general prosperity of the state.

But there will be little feed for live stock on the ranges, and meat and milk will come high. On the other hand, economies have already been effected in the matter of fuel and clothing this winter season which will make little change in the living expenses of urban population.

The probabilities are that the farmer will receive a higher price for his produce than ever before, and this will offset most of his losses, it is pointed out by students of the economic situation.

Other countries have their problems, which might be considered far more serious. Russia seeks recognition, for without it there cannot be normal intercourse with other nations. England is facing an unemployment crisis which even its labor government fears to meet. Germany, France and other European nations are in the throes of a money panic which will not be settled this year or next—not until reparations are placed on a sound basis of settlement.

The United States of America are particularly fortunate in many respects. Not having been hurled headlong into the European maelstrom, we have escaped many of the misfortunes which follow every war. While taxes have been high, perhaps, indirectly they are responsible for the lack of dangerous inflation and the ills that follow in its train.

Fear of the income tax has caused many capitalists to become ultra-conservative, and much of their increased wealth has gone into the payment of war debts. With the compromise tax plan apparently agreed upon by all parties, industry should get a needed impetus, money loosened for loans and continued prosperity assured this nation.

Builders of Glendale are to be congratulated on doing more than $800,000 here in the month of February, in view of all conditions. No major projects mounting into six figures were recorded. However, the year is just begun, and "the fastest growing city" has prospects of two hotels, a great apartment building, several business blocks of Class A construction, and one or more theatres.

And, in the passing, more homes and apartments will swell the total, for that is what Glendale needs most—reasonable rental property.

Surgeons Operate On Patients at Hospital

Minor operations were performed this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on G. G. Coleman of 214 East Broadway and Paul Steger of Burbank. Mrs. Emma Newhall of 1851 Campus road, Eagle Rock, underwent major surgery last night, and a major surgical operation was performed this morning on Mrs. M. E. Burness of Pasadena.

Let our voices ring out clear.

Baptist School of Missions Is Active

The School of Missions at the First Baptist church continues to flourish. On February 24, Rev. C. H. and Mrs. Tilden, assisted by a quartet of singers, gave a program in the Assamese language, dressed in the native costumes. Mr. Tilden spoke and his remarks were interpreted by Mrs. Tilden, then they and the quartet sang a number of verses of a native hymn. The enrollment climbed to over 300 that night.

Last night the junior department, under Mrs. E. E. Ford, gave a Japanese program, illustrating the two national birthdays of Japan. The boys all have one birthday in May, fish flag day, and the girls all celebrate today, March 3, as doll day, with a review of all the family dolls, in some instances running back three or four generations old.

The attendance was excellent considering the weather, about two-thirds of the usual number being present.

The closing night, March 9, will be marked with a special program that is now being prepared.

Local Song Writers Guests of Composer

Charles O. Roos and Juanita E. Roos, nationally known lyric and scenario writers and residents of Glendale on Gardena street, were luncheon guests recently of Charles Wakefield Cadman, noted composer, and his mother Mrs. Caroline Cadman of Sycamore Nook, Hollywood. Miss Catalina Oritz, Spanish-California pianist, of Los Angeles was another guest.

Compositions of Mr. and Mrs. Roos were enjoyed by Tuesday Afternoon club members at the Indian program given some weeks ago by Chief Yowlache, Indian baritone, and Wah-nee-nah, pianist. It will be of interest to know that Mr. Cadman has sent to the publishers this week two new songs, "Reeds," the lyric by Juanita E. Roos, and "In the Garden of Sahara," the lyric by Charles O. Roos.

JONES IN FIGHT TO NAME M'ADOO

Glendale Attorney Opposes Doheny's Lawyer for Delegate's Place

The indorsement of William Gibbs McAdoo for the Democratic presidential nomination, reaffirmed by the State Central committee on Saturday afternoon in San Francisco, had for one of its chief proponents Mattison B. Jones of Glendale, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination two years ago, who visited the northern city to deliver an eloquent plea to back the McAdoo ticket.

Mr. Jones strongly opposed, however, the selection of Gavin McNab, Doheny's personal attorney, as one of the thirty delegates from this state to the forthcoming party convention in New York city. His objection was of no avail and McNab was appointed.

L. C. Brand, of Glendale, was appointed a delegate at large, and Miss Lloy Galpin was chosen from the Eagle Rock district. J. B. Coulson of Pasadena was also appointed a delegate.

Order New Trial In E. E. Hart Death Case

A new trial has been granted J. Donaldson, charged with the murder of E. E. Hart of Glendale. According to the evidence, on which the first jury was unable to agree, in the trial held in San Diego earlier in the present criminal calendar, Hart was choked to death during a series of fights among inmates of a small unlighted border jail.

When the officers finally entered the jail they found Donaldson close to the body of Hart. A new jury has been obtained and the second trial will be held in the San Diego superior court, starting today.

High School Pupils To Appear In Comedy

Harold Brewster, dramatic instructor at the high school, is to present a group of his pupils Friday night in the auditorium of the Broadway High school, in the comedy, "Dulcy," as a benefit for the Parent-Teacher association.

FIND LOOT FROM LOCAL ROBBERIES

Capture of Long Beach Gang Breaks Up Widespread Burglary Ring

In the capture of four men and the recovery of an immense quantity of stolen goods by the Long Beach police Saturday, Glendale police officials believe that the gang of burglars that has been working in Glendale for over a year has been successfully broken up.

Lieut. W. J. Royle of the local detective bureau visited the Long Beach police station Saturday afternoon and positively identified some of the loot as that taken in Glendale burglaries. One overcoat that was reported missing in December, 1922, was recovered, as well as articles reported missing last month.

Five truckloads of goods, which included everything needed to completely furnish a home, were taken from the robbers' headquarters. Evidently their method had been to go straight to their retreat and not attempt to dispose of any of the articles stolen. The recovered property included rugs, beds, phonographs, lamps, trunks and everything, so Lieut. Royle stated, but carpenter tools. Solid silver stolen had been melted down to a big bar of silver, which was found.

Chief of Police Fraser asks that any person in Glendale who has been a victim of burglaries during the past year, go to Long Beach police headquarters and identify any of their property which may be there. Already several musical instruments have been recovered for their owners.

There were six men in the gang, according to the police in the coast city. They laid for them three weeks as the result of a confidential "tip" and were able to arrest four members of the crowd. The other two are still at large.

FOR AIR FREIGHT

With the increasing use of the airplane for transportation of freight has sprung the need for a container for the various materials sent, so that they will not be damaged by rain, fire and other hazards to which air freight is subject. It has been proposed by aerial engineers that a standard tube that is both weather and fireproof be made. The second advantage would be that they could be made to occupy the greatest amount of space in the plane and could be quickly loade dand discharged.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"The Eagle's Feather," a Metro picture, now showing at the Glendale theatre, is a western film that's "different." It is made by Edward Sloman from an absorbing story of adventure and thrills by Katherine Newlin Burt, popular magazine writer, and has in its splendid cast James Kirkwood, Mary Alden and Elinor Fair.

Those who have read the story will remember the thrilling cattle stampede, the great fight between John Trent and his accusers, the delightful banquet scene, the forest fire and many other incidents which made "The Eagle's Feather" one of the outstanding short stories of the year. All of these have been incorporated with unvarying fidelity and thrilling realism in the screen version.

The aard-wolf is a hyena-like animal of Africa that feeds mostly on white ants.

THE GATEWAY

Lenore Ulric in the film version of the celebrated Belasco play, "Tiger Rose," is now showing at the Gateway theatre. Those who have seen this great actress in the original role will get particular delight from seeing her now in the motion picture.

"Tiger Rose" was one of the greatest dramatic hits New York has ever enjoyed, a play of the tensest situations and the most compelling realism. In the film version nothing of this tense drama or fidelity to life has been lost but rather have they been enhanced, through the scope of the mation picture technique, which allows of a broader presentation than is possible on the stage.

Lenore Ulric is a dynamic force in "Tiger Rose," fitting herself into the medium of the cinema with unerring art. The supporting cast is excellent and the settings gorgeous.

WHITE SOX WIN AGAINST GIANTS

Third and Eighth Innings Are Fatal for Visitors, Final Score 6-2

Before a rather slim Sunday crowd due to the overhanging clouds, the White Sox, minus the services of Captain Carl Sawyer, turned back the St. Louis Giants in what was billed as their final appearance of the season yesterday afternoon. The score was 6-2. By winning this game, the count between these two teams is again tied at 3-3, and L. S. Cobb, manager of the colored team announced that he would hold his St. Louis tossers here one more week and the final and deciding game will be played in Glendale next Sunday.

Two new twirlers were on the mound yesterday, Bennie Hall for the Sox and a southpaw by the name of Jackson for the Giants. In his two appearances here Hall has been wobbly in the first two or three frames and then settled down to pitch air tight ball. Such was the case yesterday. The Giants scored one in the first and another in the third, and after that Hall was never in danger. He held the colored boys to five scattered hits.

Score Three Runs

On the other hand Jackson started out like a whirlwind but came to grief in the third inning when he hit Lorenson and Samis, which, coupled with blows by Bedell and Stradley and a miscue by Ward at short, netted three runs. The game went along this way until the eighth, when Mackhouse dropped two easy chances in left field. This started the fireworks, and Pete Lapan's triple and Lorenson's single accounted for three runs, putting the game on ice for the Sox.

Jackson struck out five, and deserved a better fate, but his support was very ragged in the two innings which resulted in the damage. Bedell, who received a tryout with the Sox last fall was again in uniform and although he made one error, was the only player to connect for two hits during the afternoon, one a double.

It is said Dempsey plans to check out of the hospital in a day or two and return to his hotel, but that this move is being opposed by the physicians in charge.

OXY TRACK TEAM OUTPOINTS FOES

Takes Lopsided Victory In Contest With Calteck On Tiger Field

Coach "Timberwolf" Pipal's Occidental varsity track team ushered in the 1924 conference track season with a victory over Calteck in a lop-sided dual meet held on Patterson field last Saturday afternoon. The Tigers scored 107 2-3 points to 31 1-3 for the Engineers. Likewise, the Pomona college tracksters proved too strong for the Southern Branch cinderpath team and won an uninteresting meet by the overwhelming count of 118 5-6 to 21 1-6 points for the Cubs.

The results of these two meets show the comparative strength of the leading conference track squads. It is a fight between Occidental and Pomona again this season for the championship, with Occidental holding a slight edge over the Sagehens.

According to the strength of Pomona and Oxy as shown by the time, height and distance, Coach Pipal's warriors would be able to defeat the Claremont track squad. The Tigers are sure winners in the 880-yard run, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440, 1 mile, pole vault and discus, besides the fourman, one-mile relay. Pomona would cop the hurdles, two-mile run, and all the field events. These high bidders for the title will not meet in a duel track affair until March 22, so there is three weeks in which to improve.

Cliff Argue came back strong and furnished a little excitement for the boys by winning individual honors in the Calteck meet with a total of thirteen markers. The sturdy Iron Man captured first place in the 100-yard dash, second in the 200, tied for first in the high jump with Bradshaw, and took third in the shot put. Argue is beginning to get back into condition, although he still weighs fifteen pounds more than last season. Intensive training doesn't help, but only adds more pounds. Dave "Tarazan" Ridderhoff was second high point man with first in the discus, second in the javelin and hammer. The prettiest race of the day was the mile in which Nick Carter stepped out into the lead and finished in 4m., 34 3-5s. with Miller of Oxy, 220 yards behind, taking second. Carter, who is only a junior, is one of the best milers in the south. He has remarkable form and a perfect stride, always finishing with a burst of speed. Phil Ellsworth, Tiger captain, did the 880-yard run in 2m. 1-5s. Bidwell of Caltech led the field in the 220 low stick event until he caught his foot on the last hurdle and spilled, allowing Wall of Oxy to take first in the slow time of 27 1-5s.

Graham of Calteck and Goodenough of Oxy battled most of the afternoon in the pole vault and finally called it a draw at 12 ft. 3 in. Groat, another engineer, accumulated nine points with a first in the javelin, second in the shot, and third in the hammer. The hammer throw was won by Moyce of Calteck with a toss of 128 ft. 2½ inches. The relay was forfeited to Occidental.

WINNING STREAK OF OILERS ENDS

After Thirteen Wins In a Row, Fairbanks Pitches Losing Game, 5-4

Fred Fairbanks, Shell Oil hurler, who hung up a record of thirteen consecutive wins, came to grief yesterday when he lost to Larry Arnold's Sawtelle club in the second game of the series to decide the championship of the Triple A league. The score was 5-4.

More interest was displayed in Fairbanks' attempt to stretch his record to fourteen wins than in the outcome of the game. As Josh Clarke's Oilers won the first game of the series, a third game will now be necessary. This will be staged on neutral grounds.

First Frame Fatal

Sawtelle launched their attack on Fairbanks early, scoring three runs in the first inning. After that he pitched the same sterling ball which landed the Signal Hill crew in first place in the AAA loop.

Guy Cooper, formerly of Seattle, was picked by Wally Hood to do the mound work for the home team, and he let the visitors down with five scattered hits. In addition he smacked out a double and a single.

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM

The finishing touches having been put to the new baseball plant at Long Beach, "The Queen of the Beaches," the Los Angeles candidates for the 1924 Pacific Coast League pennant have started their spring toughening. The Queen is getting to be a big girl now and her city fathers believe she can now entertain ball players.

Among the first to report at Long Beach were Doc Crandall and his brother, Arnold, who gets a tryout on the Angel pitching staff this year. Arnold is well known to local semi-pro followers, having performed in a Glendale White Sox uniform.

Hanna, Walters, Robertson, Scholl, Jacobs, McMeans, Russell, Bope, Coombe, O'Neal, Wallace, Gunther, Walton, Beck and Manager Marty Krug were in the first contingent that answered the training table dinner bell.

Need Second Baseman

The Angels are not any stronger on the infield than the law allows. Krug needs a good second baseman and a couple of reliable pitchers. The outfield is well fortified, or will be as soon as Wallie Hood and Babe Twombly get through clowning in the holdout ranks. Josh Billings from the St. Louis Browns, will head the catching staff.

Carl Crandall, brother of Doc and Arnold, is reported to be desirous of bringing fame to the Angels by becoming the third brother on the team. Carl is an infielder by inclination. He played with the Angels four or five years ago, holding down second base, but failed to give the fans any thrills, with one or two exceptions.

EVEN BREAK FOR TIGER ATHLETES

Occidental Occupies Cellar Position as Casaba Season Winds Up

Occidental college broke even in a double header basket ball contest Saturday night in the Franklin High gym. Coach Oat Smith's Tiger freshmen defeated the Southwestern university of Los Angeles 23 to 12 in a fast preliminary game. The University of Redlands Bulldogs turned around and handed the Oxy varsity another defeat. The final score was 24 to 9 with the Tigers on the short end. The Occidental casaba season is now over and the varsity holds the cellar title, having lost ten straight games. This is the first time in many years that the Tigers have been at the bottom of the percentage column in any sport.

Coach Nichols' team fought desperately during the first half in rolling up only one field goal and two foul throws, while the visitors sailed ahead and totaled 17 digs, leaving the score 17 to 4 at the half. The Oxy varsity came back fighting mad and tried hard to overcome the Bulldog lead. They managed to hold the Redlands team to seven points, but could not shoot, themselves. They made many attempts at the basket and every time the ball either fell short or went to the side. The Oxy team has good teamwork but cannot score after they get near the basket. When the Bulldogs took the floor they towered almost head and shoulders above the smaller and lighter home team. Hosegood and Thompson, both over six feet tall, featured with their accurate shooting and scored most of the winning points. McGilbra, an Indian boy, playing forward for Redlands, played a stellar game.

Two Oxy Stars

Captain Neil Archer and Solley Mishkin played super ball for the freshmen. The frosh score stood 7 to 5 at the half. In the second period these demon shooters got their stride and scored thirteen points. The freshmen have closed a very successful season and the college is proud of them.

The varsity line-up:

Occidental		Redlands
Sackett	F	Hosegood
Holiday	F	McGilbra
Bennitts	C	Thompson
Ridderhoff	G	Knight
Ebers	G	Manning

FIRPO PLANS TO HARVEST DOLLARS

String of Easy Marks to Be Dated for Argentinian On Clean-up Tour

NEW YORK, March 3.—According to Broadway gossip, Luis Angel Firpo, having had a great plenty on the memorable night of September 14, will never again mingle with Jack Dempsey within the confines of an eighteen-foot ring. The noble senor, it is said, is arranging a list of exhibition dates and will trade on his last showing with the champion in an effort to clean up while the cleaning is all to the vacuum.

He will do business with Jack Renault, Fred Fulton, Floyd Johnson and other heavyweights during the coming summer, but will avoid Dempsey as the average man avoids a coal hole, according to local gossip. Meantime, it is said that the trick will be to squawk loud and plaintively for a return engagement with the champion. This, it is said, will not only serve as an effective smoke screen for the senor's business but will react with favor upon the gate receipts that will attend his efforts against the heavyweight bourgeoisie.

$200,000 for Bout

For one bout alone he is said to hope to get away with the trifling matter of $200,000. This is the proposed engagement with Jack Renault at Windsor, Ontario, on May 24 next. The Canadians are greatly enamored of Renault, a native son, and are figured to pay heavily to see him in action against the senor.

After having finished with Renault, Firpo plans to look about for other chins to conquer. His idea is said to be to invade St. Paul at a propitious moment and smite Fulton an early and hurried smite on the chin. After attending to this trifling matter, for which they have selected Memorial day, Luis will step over to Cleveland with the laudable idea of knocking over Floyd Johnson. Floyd is no man's sap, by the way.

OPENING PRACTICE

NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—Minus Babe Ruth, who is convalescing at Hot Springs from the effects of the influenza, and Bob Meusel who was slightly injured in the automobile accident that resulted in Tony Boeckel's death, the New York Yankees prepared to take part in the opening practice of the 1924 campaign today.

STARTS TRAINING

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 3. The Philadelphia Athletics started spring training today. Connie Mack took occasion to deny that Paul Strand, the Salt Lake City star, is asking for a part of his purchase price.

Glendale People Alive To Local Business Problems

We may speak disdainfully of "filthy lucre," but no project gets very far, these days, without money. The home, the church, the school, the store and the factory all need money to succeed. And the Community is no exception. The city needs money to grow and prosper as a municipality and no less does the Community require a constant circulation of the coin of the realm.

If there were little or no money circulating in Glendale today the city would not be known as the fastest growing city in the United States; you would not be writing your friends about Glendale and urging them to come here to live; you would not be proud of Glendale and glad that you live here.

One of the great causes of Glendale's prosperity and progress is the fact that it is largely made up of people who spend their money at home; they keep the coin circulating in Glendale, thereby building up the Community in every way.

A housewife may buy a $5 bill of goods this morning in some Glendale store and before night this humble "V" may pay a dozen or more bills, it may pass through scores of hands, it may do the work of a hundred dollars and be spent in many ways for the good of Glendale and Glendale people.

Money spent outside of Glendale does not help this Community. It is only when we keep our money at home working for ourselves that we really get our money's worth, for the money we spend locally builds up realty values, adds to the wealth of the Community and so reflects good times and prosperity on all of us.

The advertisers on this page realize the importance of Glendale people keeping their money in Glendale. They ask for your trade because they cannot carry on their various callings without business. The money you spend with them not only enables them to give better service but it adds to the wealth of the Community as a whole. The money you spend with them, they in turn spend with their fellow merchants or use it for local improvements.

This matter of support for local business is a big problem, but Glendale people are solving it satisfactorily.

MERCHANTS HEAR CLAGSTONE TALK

Manager of western Division U. S. Chamber Speaks at Luncheon Here

said, is the transportation conference. For more than a year representatives of railroads, heads of agricultural orders, presidents of motor truck companies, highway officials, labor heads, employers' representatives and ship men have been in conference seeking to present a solution to the transportation problem.

Report Ready Soon

These committees will be ready to report in a short time, he said, and their findings will be sent to all chambers of commerce for their approval or disapproval, under the referendum system.

Solutions of business matters in many instances must come from the various communities, he said, and cannot depend entirely upon legislative acts. There are very few business men of a large caliber in politics, he said, because their interests cannot be sacrificed for politics. Most of the legislators are men who have not had a good business training and cannot cope with business problems, he said.

All Give Aid

Every Chamber of Commerce in the United States is helping the reparations committee in trying to straighten out the affairs of Europe, the speaker said. Government officials found that there were no funds for the expenses of this committee available, and the United States Chamber of Commerce heads informed the officials the expenses of the three members of the committee would be taken care of by the chamber.

Mr. Clagstone told of the work of the International Chamber of Commerce, with headquarters in Paris. There are thirty countries represented in that organization, he said, and the most important work is the arbitration of trade disputes that would otherwise take up valuable time and cost considerable money if fought through the courts.

Non-Partisan Order

The United States Chamber of Commerce, he said, is a national body of business men, non-partisan and non-sectional, formed during the administration of President Taft to advise and assist Congress in legislative matters, and to help business men throughout the country in the solution of their problems.

Charles J. Hatz, president of the Glendale Merchants' association, turned the meeting over to W. E. Hewitt, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who introduced Mr. Clagstone. Inasmuch as Mr. Clagstone could only be in Glendale on the meeting date of the Glendale Merchants' association, the merchants gave up their program for the day to hear him.

Members of the City Council and city officials were the guests of the Chamber at the meeting.

WOMEN STRIKERS MOB, BEAT GIRL

Violence Breaks Out Among Garment Workers In Labor Dispute

CHICAGO, March 3.—Violence, in connection with the strike of the women garment workers, broke out afresh today when mobs of women and girls attacked employes who failed to answer the strike call.

One crowd attacked Ruth Bodinger as she was on her way to work, beat her and tore her clothes off, leaving her almost nude on the sidewalk. Eighteen girls were arrested this morning in connection with the attack.

Ambassador Kellogg Gets Force Up Early

LONDON, March 3.—Ambassador Kellogg has smashed at least one precedent since he arrived in London. He has broken all rules for diplomatic office hours and thereby caused some grief.

The ambassador is at his desk at 9 o'clock each morning and, of course, when he is at work the rest of the staff is expected to be also. This is, indeed, a blow, because 9 o'clock in the morning is practically the middle of the night for London, where only factory workers and manual laborers are expected to be at their work before 10 o'clock.

Adding to the grief is the fact that the ambassador takes only an hour for lunch, thereby setting another example. It is the general practice for diplomats and their suites to take from two to four hours for luncheon and tetes-a-tete and perhaps a quiet snooze.

Rainmaker Hatfield May Lose Opportunity

C. M. Hatfield, bearing the reputation of rainmaker, lost an ante of several thousand dollars offered him Thursday by Ventura county ranchers, according to acquaintances here. Mr. Hatfield asked for a larger guarantee, and gave them until today to reply. Now that it has rained, his services may not be necessary.

FEAR FLOOD AS ICE BANK HOLDS

Breaking of Gorge In Platte River Would Send Wall Of Water Down

SCHUYLER, Neb., March 3.—After a week of strenuous activity by dynamiting crews, attempting to break up the gigantic ice gorge in the Patte river near here today, the waters today were creeping towards Schuyler, threatening a disastrous flood.

Larry Rouse, in charge of the dynamiters working for Colfax county told International News Service today that the river was out over the lowlands and that it had been necessary to close the state highway which crosses the river near here.

Rouse said that reports had been received here of an ice gorge at Fullerton, Neb., up the river, which was causing damage there by overflows into the lowlands. If this gorge should suddenly give way, Rouse said, it would release a flood of water that would cause disastrous damage in this vicinity.

Forbes Indictment No Surprise, Says Lawyer

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Indictments returned by the federal grand jury at Chicago in connection with the administration of the United States veterans' bureau are "no surprise to Colonel Charles R. Forbes," former director of the bureau, it was declared late yesterday by Forbes' attorney, Colonel James Easby Smith.

Colonel Smith said Forbes would have nothing to say for the present concerning the indictment.

Leap Day Baby Girl Daughter of Wards

The only baby born in Glendale to Glendale parents on Leap Day, February 29, 1924, is reported to be Shirley Charlotte Ward, 7½ pounds, who arrived at the Golden West hospital at 5:40 p. m. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Ward of 123-B Acacia street. She will be sweet sixteen when 64, says her proud papa. However, he will have February 28—the last day of the month—officially recorded as her birthday.

Secretary Denby In Fresh Senate Clash

WASHINGTON, March 3.—With only a week remaining before he will retire to private life, Secretary of the Navy Denby got into another row with the Senate today.

Called upon to furnish the names of all ex-senators who have represented before the navy department persons trying to collect claims against the government, Denby informed the Senate he couldn't comply with the request unless he was given the names of all the ex-senators.

Redwood Grove Will Be Regent's Memorial

BERKELEY, March 3.—A redwood grove of eleven hundred trees is to be planted on the hills sloping toward the University of California in memory of John A. Britton, a former regent of the university, by students of the college of agriculture.

In addition to this work, the students will broaden and grade three trails on the south side of Strawberry Canyon, and the engineers will build a bridge spanning the creek at the foot of the trail. The three pathways will be named in honor of Stephen P. Mather, superintendent of national parks; Colonel William S. Greeley, chief forester of the United States, and the late Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior, university alumni.

Harding May Get Job of Hungarian Finance Dictator

W. P. G. Harding

The League of Nations has approved a substantial loan to Hungary, conditional on its acceptance of an outsider as absolute financial dictator of the country. Hungary has accepted on the condition that an American be given the post. W. P. G. Harding, former head of the federal reserve system of the United States, is being considered for the role, it is stated in Paris.

PARLEY ON ARMS TO BE DEFERRED

British Premier Considers Time Inopportune to Call Conference

LONDON, March 3.—The present moment is inopportune for any single nation to attempt to summon a disarmament conference, Premier Ramsay Macdonald told the House of Commons this afternoon.

Asked whether he intended to call an international disarmament conference, the premier replied:

"Broadly speaking, the League of Nations already has discussed that situation. I don't think the present moment suitable for an independent step. We must await developments."

Church-goers Are Hit By Speeding Machine

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—Fourteen persons injured, one of whom may die, with one automobile driver held in jail pending the outcome of injuries to a collision victim, on a charge of driving his machine while intoxicated into a crowd of churchgoers, was today's casualty list of automobile accidents in and near Los Angeles during the week end.

Donald Wilton of Lankershim was expected to die after the machine in which he was riding with R. L. Roe had collided with that of Isaac L. Rouse.

George E. Marsh faced a charge of driving while intoxicated after his machine had run down two women who were leaving a church at Glendale boulevard and Echo Park avenue.

Wet streets are said to have caused a number of other accidents.

POWER OF SATAN IS SERMON TOPIC

Rev. Funk Says Footprints Of Devil Apparent In World of Today

Members of the congregation of the First Luthern church present yesterday morning listened to a powerful address by Dr. H. C. Funk on "The Footprints of Satan." The discourse took the form of a discussion on the question, "Is the Devil Dead?"

In part Dr. Funk said:

"It is said that Satan came to Martin Luther on one occasion and said: 'Martin, you are a great sinner.' Luther acknowledged that the statement was true. 'Therefore,' said Satan, 'you are damned.' 'Get thee behind me, Satan,' replied the hero of God, 'for I have a Saviour who is greater than my sins.' Luther certainly believed in a real, personal devil.

"Well, has God destroyed the devil? No, for I am sure that I have seen some of his footprints. You know there are two things that are especially dangerous for a minister to do. The first one we will mention is that of building a new church; for the devil will get into somebody and try to stir up trouble, or stop the good work, if there is any way under heaven to do so. It is also exceedingly dangerous for a minister to marry a girl who is a member of the congregation of which he is the pastor.

Minister's Course

"And in answer to the question, 'What shall he do?' permit me to say that if a young minister finds the woman of his choice in the congregation of which he is the pastor, he is a fool if he does not marry her because somebody may criticise him for doing so. And if the good God opens the way for him to build a temple for the glory of God and the salvation of men, he is a coward, and hasn't an ounce of red blood in him, if he permits himself to be driven from the task God has given him to perform.

"If you think the Christian life is an easy one, you are very much mistaken; if you think the church can make permanent progress without a struggle, you are certainly wrong. No, his Satanic majesty is still very much alive; 'for your adversary, the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour.' That is why we must continue to sing, 'My soul, be on thy guard; ten thousand foes arise. The hosts of sin are pressing hard to draw thee from the skies.'

"The devil is still alive. Paul never doubted it; for he saw too many of his footprints to be dubious about it. Indeed, for doing good he was maligned, mistreated and beaten with forty stripes, save one.

"I remember going out into the fields back east, and when we saw fresh rabbit tracks we knew there were rabbits nearby. So it is perfectly easy to make sure of the presence of Satan. If he can sow the seed of discord and discontent, or if he can get somebody to misconstrue what the pastor said or meant, he is perfectly satisfied. When a man talks about being saved by the spirit, and then goes around grumbling, criticising and finding fault with those who are giving their time and talent for the building of the church of God, I want to say to you that he is showing the cloven hoof, the footprints of Satan, and that it is a devilish spirit that is moving him.

"Hear me! With all the wisdom of Jesus Christ in selecting the Twelve, one of them turned out to be a traitor, a bad actor; for he forsook his Lord and Master, and sold him for thirty dirty pieces of silver. When the mind is clogged with the spirit of prejudice and hatred it is a very difficult thing for the spirit of love and truth to make an impression upon it.

"And now let us discuss another interesting phase of the subject: "Why doesn't God kill the devil?" In reply, let me ask what punishment, think you, should be meted out to that one who, for 6000 years, has been the instigator of crime, and who has brought suffering, degradation and death upon mankind?

Satan Cast Out

"Satan was not always thus; but he vaunted himself, became vain and puffed up; he acknowledged no authority, and desired himself to be a god. God made him right, for the Lord doeth all things well. But Satan deceived himself, and man was deceived by Satan; therefore man shall have mercy, while Satan shall find none, but shall be cast down into an endless hell.

"God does not destroy the devil because it is the will of God that man should evermore have the power to choose, God or devil, which? As a man was overcome by the seductive power of the evil one, so God now comes to man and enables him to overcome the devil, and thus regain the exalted position from which he fell.

"Satan rebelled against God. There was war in heaven. Michael and his angels fought against the dragon. God purified heaven by casting Satan out. And what is more, He sent his only begotten Son down to earth to conquer the devil there. Again, Satan has been limited in his power. He has power only over those who choose to be his subjects. Talk about environment, poverty, and having no chance, there is no environment save that which by the grace of God you may overcome. 'Though the cause of evil prosper, yet 'tis Truth alone is strong.' Satan is now compelled to minister to the glory of the man who puts his trust in God. Death itself, which is Satan's last wrok, will but open to me the gateway to the skies."

WAY TO SERVICE TOLD BY PASTOR

Rev. Arthur Moore Explains Attainment of Ideal In Aiding Mankind

Sunday evening, the members of the Occult Science of Christ church, 113 South Orange street, had the pleasure of listening to a very helpful sermon by Rev. Arthur A. Moore on "The Service of Silent Living."

The theme of Rev. Moore's address was that the usefulness of our lives, from a philosophical point of view, cannot be judged by what we say, or even by what we do. It was his opinion that the usefulness of our lives, the value of our lives to humanity, is determined entirely by what we are, by the extent to which we have realized our spiritual nature. A man who has realized his true nature, his God-like nature, is a definite power in the world, a power who serves the race in the direction of its evolution, helping it to bring into manifestation the divine qualities which he knows to be inherent within it.

Rev. Moore said in part: "There are two kinds of people, generally speaking, those who know, and those who do not know. Those 'who know' are they who have realized that they partake of the nature of God, that they are essentially divine. Those 'who do not know' are they who lack this realization, this knowledge. Those who come under the former category know that they have a definite mission in the world, that it is their duty and privilege to uplift the race, mentally and physically, their fellow beings, in every way that is open to them. Now the imminent question for the man who has thus realized his oneness with God is: by which of the many ways that are open to me to serve shall I be of the greatest value to the race, by which of them shall I be able to serve my fellow beings most fully and most permanently?

"If the questioner truly 'knows,' if he has truly realized the part that he is to play in the great drama of life, he will know that it is not through talk, that it is not through argumentation and discussion, that he will be of the greatest value. Anyone can do these things, anyone can talk and try to convince another of the truth of his point of view.

"The man of realization will also know that his works, his philanthropic work, his helping of humanity physically, do not form his chief avenue of usefulness. While these are necessary, while one should do all within his power to serve by the doing of good works, and while they form a more accurate index of one's character than does his talk, they do not form the chief avenue of service for the man of realization. What, then, may we ask, is the line of service, or rather, the manner of service, considered most useful and valuable by the man of realization?

"The principal manner of service, that most pregnant with possibilities, for the spiritual man, living in the world, lies in his silent life, in the example of manifest spirituality which he is to his fellow beings. It is by the silent, beneficent influence exerted in this way upon his fellow beings, that the aspirant succeeds in benefiting them most definitely and most permanently. Spiritual qualities are infectious, are to be transmitted from one person to another, just as evil ones are, and the person who has succeeded in building into himself the qualities that mark the spiritual man, transmits, unconsciously, these same spiritual qualities to another who is in contact with him. Likewise, if we are ardent and sincere in all that we do, we serve to induce the development of those qualities in our associates, in fact, in all with whom we come in contact.

"A man who is living for an ideal, and whose every thought and act are conducive to the realization of that ideal, becomes a definite power in the world of men, a definite power for good. For he radiates, as the sun radiates heat and life the spiritual qualities by whose aid he attains his ideal; he radiates vibrations of purity and strength which purify and uplift the consciousness of all who cross the path of his life. Consequently it is in this way, this way of his silent life, that the man of realization knows that he may serve the world most fully and most lastingly, and his success in this, as in all other things of the spiritual life, is determined by the degree of his realization."

OPPOSE CHANGE IN SCHOOL LAWS

Glendale Minister Leads In Fight on Compulsory Education Bill

LOMA LINDA, Calif., March 3.—Several hundred members of the Seventh-day church here, which includes in its membership the faculty of students of the College of Medical Evangelists, and the faculty, nurses and other employes of the Loma Linda Sanitarium, voiced their unanimous protest against any proposed plan to enact a compulsory educational bill in California similar to the Oregon school bill, following a stirring address by Rev. W. F. Martin, of Glendale, the religious liberty secretary of the Pacific Union Conference, who spoke of the dangers involved in such legislation.

It was pointed out by Rev. Mr. Martin that thousands of Seventh-day Adventist parents in the state of California would be deprived of the privilege of sending their children to the denominational schools, where religion according to their views is now being taught if such legislation were enacted, and he urged his hearers to keep constantly before them the adage "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and not only oppose any moves that may be made on this subject but engage in a systematic educational campaign to enlighten their neighbors and friends on the subject of civil and religious liberty, and the constitutional guarantees of allowing men to exercise their religious rights according to the dictates of their own conscience.

Scores Intolerance

Rev. Mr. Martin said that any state that takes from the parent the right to have his child taught in schools of his choice—schools which meet the standard required by the state—would be intolerant and tyrannical. He likened such legislation to acts of Prussianism and declared that "patriotism and liberty cannot be promoted by despotism. In matters of religion, liberty is more than life. To deny it is to revive ancient persecution. Millions have died for freedom. To abolish church and private schools is to infringe upon the most precious right of mankind."

Mr. Martin defended the public school system, saying that every loyal American is glad to give support to the maintenance of them. "Where a citizen has discharged his duty thus far, he should be left to maintain, at his pleasure and expense, a school in which his child can have the advantage of religious training. Only religious bigotry and prejudice will deny this right. Real liberty lovers grant to others the rights they demand for themselves. Bigotry denies them. Even the casual observer can see that intolerance is gaining too much of a hold in our land, and we need to raise our voice in protest against it."

The address here was a part of a nation-wide program, as far as Seventh-day Adventist churches were concerned, in observing their annual religious liberty day.

RAIN COMES AS BIG AID TO CROPS

many dairymen were reported on the verge of slaughtering their herds because of a lack of feed for them.

Snow in Mountains

With the rain came other weather conditions, including snow, hail, thunder and lightning, which were reported from many sections of the southland. Hail fell heavily at Cajon pass and was also reported in Pasadena, Oxnard and beach points. Several inches of snow fell on Mount Wilson and other nearby mountains.

More than a foot of snow was reported from the Big Bear lake section and the San Bernardino mountains. The snow, it was pointed out, will aid greatly in storing up a huge water supply.

The rain also put out a forest fire near San Bernardino. Lightning is reported to have struck an oil tank near Long Beach and set it afire, but the Long Beach fire department extinguished the fire after an hour's fight.

Rainstorm Moves Over Eastward to Colorado

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—The storm which brought rain to all California, breaking in most sections an unprecedented drought, passed hurriedly east, and today was central over Colorado.

It left in its trail cloudy weather in some sections and a few showers in others, but the general precipitation of Sunday ended last night, according to reports to the United States weather bureau.

"It is on the verge of clearing," the weather experts stated, "only the tail end of the storm remains with us."

Falls All Over State

Complete reports to the weather bureau today showed that all sections of the state were visited by the rain. It brought immediate relief throughout the San Joaquin valley and Southern California to cattle raisers whose stock were beginning to suffer. Additional rain is still needed from Stockton south to insure full crops, agriculture experts stated, although yesterday's downpour will go far towards starting the crops and the heavy rain in Kings, Fresno and Tulare counties will do much for the wheat crop in those sections.

The rainfall in Southern California did much to minimize the forest fire danger, it was stated at forestry headquarters.

Government Plans Keener Battle On Liquor Smugglers

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—The government's war on rum runners and bootleggers was advanced a step today when the House appropriations committee favorably reported a bill providing for the immediate expenditure of $13,850,622 for the expansion of the United States coast guard, involving the purchase of 323 fast motor boats and the utilization of twenty naval destroyers to protect the coast line.

approaching election. In this connection they point out that already the ground work has been laid in the senate for a similar "investigation" of the treasury department, through the Couzens-King resolution.

Everything, according to Senator Brookhart, chairman, is to be in the open.

"The committee will meet in executive session today or tomorrow," said Brookhart, "to map out a course of procedure and decide upon policy. Except for the purely administrative features of the inquiry, which concern only the committee itself, all other moves are to be made in public. Open hearings will start later in the week.

Daugherty May Testify

"The request of the attorney-general's assistants for the usual representations at this hearing will, of course, be granted. The committee will give Mr. Daugherty every facility in presenting his defense. The question, however, of permitting his attorneys to cross-examine witnesses must be decided by the committee, as this hardly comes in the usual course of things."

Whether the attorney-general himself will take the stand has not been decided. The impression prevails, however, among Daugherty's advisers and friends that he will do so. Whatever else has been charged against the attorney-general, he has never been accused of lacking courage, and it is understood to be his present intention of facing his accusers from the stand.

Daugherty is expected to return to Washington the last of this week.

Follow Up Trail Leading To Department of Justice

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The Senate's oil investigation entered another suspicious week today with strong indications that the tightening web of evidence would entwine additional government officials.

While a formal meeting was not held, the public lands committee laid the groundwork for following up the trail that leads straight to the department of justice as a result of the revelations in the now famous McLean telegrams.

Plans were made to hear this week the report of the expert accountants who have been examining the books of leading stock brokers in Cleveland, New York and Washington. This report, according to members of the committee, would throw light on the stock dealing activities of federal officials. Besides Senator Elkins, Republican of West Virginia, and Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty, the books were expected to reveal other government officials as having dealt in oil stocks, including Sinclair and a middle western independent company.

Court Action

Coincident with these developments, the special counsel to prosecute the government's oil suits, Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, announced that court action would be started this week in the oil lease cases. The first action will be filing of injunction suits in California and Wyoming to prevent further extraction of oil from the Elk Hills and Teapot Dome reserves.

An effort also will be made to annul the leases negotiated with H. L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair by ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert H. Fall.

In another of his spasmodically issued statements, Doheny charged that the investigators are "concealing the truth" about the leases for the purposes of political "muck raking" in the approaching elections.

"The election in November—not the legality of the oil leases, nor the benefit they are to the government—is the sole fact now controlling the politicians who are conducting the so-called oil investigations," Doheny said.

California Case

From the White House it was learned that President Coolidge plans to appoint this week special counsel to prosecute suits to recover sections 16 and 36 owned by the Standard Oil company of California in the Elk Hills reserve. This action was authorized in the Walsh resolution passed by Congress.

Following the lead into the department of justice, the committee first will question William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation, and Mrs. Mary Duckstein, former secretary to Burns and an agent of the department. Mrs. Duckstein's name was found signed to one of the code messages to McLean in which Burns was quoted as advising the publisher "that an investigation is under way by justice department agents."

Department Code

Besides the alleged "tip" from Burns, the committee is anxious to know how employes of McLean secured possession of a code of the department. They will seek to determine if the code was supplied by McLean himself who, as an agent of the department, was given a code book, a pistol, a badge and a set of operatives' credentials.

Mrs. Duckstein is the first woman to figure prominently in the scandal and the committee regards her as a highly important witness in revealing activities of department officials on behalf of McLean. Previously it had been shown that H. S. Rochester, an employe of the department, telegraphed McLean a "tip" about the inquiry.

Burns, Mrs. Duckstein, Rochester and several of McLean's employes have been summoned tomorrow at the resumption of formal hearings.

Join In Thanks

While this record for Glendale fell short of last year's seasonal record on the same date of 9.38 inches, nevertheless Glendale joins with other people of the Southland in thanksgiving over the breaking of what old timers declare to have been one of the dryest dry spells in their recollection.

Gray clouds filling the sky Saturday afternoon foretold the coming of the showers and along towards midnight and in the early hours of Sunday morning a steady downpour began and continued at intervals until this morning. More clouds in the sky predict the 3.76 inches will be boosted higher before nightfall.

In Burned Canoyns

To residents of parts of Sycamore canyon and streets adjacent to Verdugo road in the neighborhood of East California and Lexington drive, the storm of early Sunday morning was somewhat disastrous.

It had been predicted that the burning of the vegetation on the watersheds some months ago on the hills to the northeast of Glendale would mean that in case of rain a larger force of water would rush through Sycamore canyon and down through the wash between East California and Lexington drive.

Water Enters Homes

About 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning residents along the wash in Sycamore canyon were aroused by the swishing of water in the wash and some got up to find water and mud pouring into their homes. Chicken coops and pens were carried along with the water and when the storm had subsided the morning light disclosed a deposit of silt on vacant lots, paved streets, covering sidewalks, curbs, lawns, front porches and in many houses.

The water hurried along with great ferocity south by the west side of the Broadway school and across Broadway, which for a block or two was transformed into a slushy slough.

Contractors working on city paving projects were inconvenienced somewhat by the storm, but no serious damage has been reported. Glendale avenue, where Peter L. Ferry is at work, was not harmed. Cornwell & Henderson, in Sycamore canyon, report that a great deal of dirt has been washed on the sub-base which will have to be removed before paving can be laid.

On Verdugo road a small landslide blocked traffic for a time yesterday noon, necessitating the diversion of traffic along Opechee Way and Canada boulevard.

The street department was busy all day Sunday cleaning gutters and spillways, but R. G. McLane, assistant city engineer, stated this morning that no serious damage had resulted.

The actual damage, however, was slight, and even those who were inconvenienced by the flow of the water rejoiced in the coming of the rain that has been awaited so long and which has been so badly needed in every section of the city.

RECLAMATION OF INSURANCE URGED

Maintain War-time Policies At Low Rate, Is Plea To Ex-Service Men

Another appeal to the ex-service men of the nation to reclaim their government insurance held during the world war has gone forth from the government authorities at Washington, according to an appeal sent to state headquarters of the American Legion.

"One surprising aftermath of the great war is the apparent apathy of former soldiers and sailors toward the life insurance Uncle Sam sold them in 1917-18," Morgan Keaton, state adjutant of the Legion in California, says.

Is Sold at Cost

The United States Veterans' Bureau states that only 600,000 men from nearly 5,000,000 who were originally insured have reclaimed their insurance. This is remarkable in view of the fact government insurance—available only to those who were in military or naval service—is sold at actual cost. The veteran can buy his life insurance from the government for from 15 to 30 per cent less than the same insurance would cost him on the outside. The ex-service men's indifference toward this valuable privilege can only be accounted for by the fact that the truth is not generally known.

Protest Reduction

Oakland post of the Amercian Legion has protested against a threatened reduction of federal appropriation for the Reserve Officers Training Corps work in the Oakland schools.

State Adjutant Morgan Keaton has been advised that a letter from the post to senators and representatives in Congress pointed out that fewer boys would have the opportunity afforded in military training if a reduction is made.

"The American Legion is not a military organization, but this post has repeatedly recorded itself in favor of the R. O. T. C. work," the letter said. "This is because we realize that the training produces a superior citizen, one fully alive to the tradition and ideals of America and whose mental, moral and physical development has been aided by his R. O. T. C. course."

Twelve Days Remain For Filing Income Return Is Warning From Collector

With only twelve days of the income tax filing period remaining, more than 200,000 returns must be reported in the Southern California internal revenue district in order for taxpayers to avoid delinquency and consequent penalties, Collector Rex B. Goodcell announced today after a final checking up of the returns filed up to March 1.

Thousands of taxpayers have swamped the revenue bureau with inquiries as to the correct interpretation of the law regarding the deduction of losses which were not incurred in a taxpayer's regular business.

"In computing net income taxpayers are allowed to deduct from gross income deductions—for losses incurred not only in the taxpayer's business, but losses sustained in any transaction entered into for profit, or if arising from fires, storms, shipwreck, or other casualty. Deductions for losses are allowed only to the extent that they are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise," the collector explained.

Statute Is Given

"Claims for losses should conform closely to the wording of the statute. While a taxpayer may feel certain that property owned by him is worth less than the purchase price, he is not allowed a deduction until the loss is made absolute by the sale or other disposition of the property.

"Frequent claims are made for deductions for losses in the sale of residence property. A loss sustained in the sale of a residence which at the time of purchase was bought without intention of selling, is not a deductible item 'because it was not a transaction entered into for profit.' For the same reason a loss sustained in the sale of an automobile purchased for personal use may not be deducted. The intent to make a profit must have existed at the beginning of a venture.

"A manufacturer compelled to scrap machinery because it has gradually become obsolete may deduct the loss sustained if he has sold or otherwise abandoned the machinery. Usually, to be deductible as a loss, the assets upon which the loss has been sustained must have completely disappeared as a resource to the taxpayer."

Women File Returns

Income tax returns filed by women may set a new mark in the Los Angeles district, according to Collector Goodcell, who based his prediction on the number of returns already filed by single women.

Moving picture stars of various degrees of twinkle are thronging the corridors of the Federal Building, as well as the branch income tax office in the Chamber of Commerce in Hollywood. The majority of the stars are paying their taxes in full and checks running up into five and six figures indicate that Hollywood is paying off in real coin of the realm, and not in stage money.

Penalties Imposed

Taxpayers are warned by Collector Goodcell that many penalties were imposed last year upon those having a gross income of $5,000, who failed to file returns due to the net income being less than the personal exemption to which the taxpayer was entitled. Regardless of the amount of net income, the collector declared, taxpayers must file returns if their gross incomes are in excess of $5,000.

"This means that practically all persons are liable for a return that are engaged in the business of buying and selling merchandise or produce," the collector explained.

The penalty for failing to file is $1,000. This amount, however, under the policy adopted by the revenue bureau, is subjected to compromise.

Responding to numerous requests for a ruling on the deductions allowed for bad debts, in reporting 1923 income, Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell yesterday announced a policy that affects the returns of 280,000 southern California taxpayers.

"Taxpayers who discovered a debt to be worthless in 1923, and have in that year charged the account off their books may claim the amount as a deduction in their income tax returns for that year. Bad debts may be treated in one of two ways: (1) By a deduction of the amount of the bad debts from gross incomes; (2) by a deduction from income of an addition to a reserve for bad debts," Collector Goodcell ruled.

"Taxpayers who adopted for the year 1921 either method must continue the use of the same method, unless permission to change is obtained from the commissioner of internal revenue. Permission to adopt the reserve method is restricted to taxpayers having a large number of accounts, where credit is extended over a considerable period, and is not granted for the purpose of handling one specific bad debt.

Two Alternatives

"Bad debts may be deducted in whole or in part. When deducted in part, the taxpayer must be able to show with a reasonable degree of certainty the amount uncollectible. Partial deductions are allowed with respect to specific debts only. To be allowed as a deduction a debt must be charged off in the year in which its worthlessness was discovered. The taxpayer should at-

BARNUM SHOULD WEAR A BADGE!

Mistaken for Others by News Staff Writer When Met On Glendale Streets

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff.

"You can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

It wasn't Phineas T. Barnum who said that, for he remarked once "there is one born every minute." One doubts that he meant there is a Barnum born every minute, but Glendale has a distant relative of the illustrious showman in the person of H. E. Barnum, senior member of the real estate development firm of Barnum-Walters Co., who are directing the sale of Sparr Heights in Glendale and Sparrland near Riverside.

The writer has known Mr. Barnum for two years, but every time we meet him he fools us. Honest-to-goodness, and this is a confession. When we see Mr. Barnum we think he is someone else—don't know him, and it takes an introduction all over again.

Should Grow Mustache

Now he has fooled us long enough—and unless he grows a mustache, or does something desperate, we are going to believe it is possible to fool some of the people all of the time. For be it understood we are not alone in mistaking the identity of Mr. Barnum. He looks too much like others, maybe.

At any rate, from now on we are going to try to remember the jovial physiognomy — get the word, please—of H. E. Barnum. He is not so noisy as that partner of his, M. Walters. Indeed, he doesn't say much but when he does, he talks!

There was a day when the writer literally knew everyone in Glendale by sight and many by name—say ten years ago. There were only 5,000 people in this city then. With 50,000 we see many every day, and so many newcomers, that it is confusing even to a photographic eye.

Badges Are Commended

It is seriously suggested that in this cosmopolitan section everyone should wear a badge bearing his name, address, former home, and business. It would do a lot to build acquaintances—and make them stick. Some years ago Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher used to wear a badge like that. Now he is one of the most widely known ministers in Southern California.

The various luncheon clubs and other organizations have buttons which relieve one of the embarrassment of asking names. And they give a person a chance to be real chummy, instead of standing around with a blank stare. Why not adopt the same scheme in every day life?

YOUNG MUSICIANS PLAY FOR RADIO

Glendale Children Present Varied Program Over Anthony Station

Many Glendale radio fans were listeners in to a program at the children's hour Saturday night by members of the Glendale Juvenile Music club, who repeated in part the program that was presented with such success Friday night at the benefit concert given at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

The numbers were broadcasted from the Earl C. Anthony station and included piano numbers by Susie Smith, Eloise Knaus, Maxine Heasley, Marguerite Chapel, Beatrice Smith, Vera Lockwood; violin selection by Rex Morthland, with piano accompaniment by Sally Heasley; vocal selection by Catherine Henry, with piano accompaniment by Dorothy Witzel; reading by Phyllis Forrester; piano trio by Rowland Fullen, Herbert Howeth and Edwin Dodds; violin selection by Mary Ann Fleming, with piano accompaniment by Alice Ayars.

Plan Another Concert

Owing to limited time the complete program could not be put on at one time, and the management has requested the privilege of presenting another program later that will include the remaining numbers by the children whose friends were disappointed in not hearing them perform.

The plan has been made to combine this program with the one for the winners of the prizes in the music contest that is being put on by the Juvenile club, under the direction of the executive board, which is composed of Mrs. Grace E. Jackson, chairman; Mrs. Pearl G. Curran, program chairman, and Miss Alberta Metzler, representing the teachers' roundtable. The club members were accompanied to Los Angeles Saturday night by Mrs. Curran and Mrs. Jackson.

OHIO PROGRAM AT DINNER PRAISED

Unique Features at Buckeye Table Rouse Interest At Church Program

A feature of the program at the All States dinner Friday night at the First Presbyterian church, which was especially interesting, was the splendid showing made by Ohio, which gave Iowa, the winning state, a hard run for first place. It was generally conceded that the most beautiful number of the program was the rendition of "Beautiful Ohio," on the cornet, by Attorney W. Clairé Anspach, a loyal Ohioan, who has adopted Glendale for his home, and a short talk touching the high lights of history of the pioneer state by Dr. David Ross Boyd.

It is of interest to note that it is to Dr. Boyd that the women of the church were indebted for the unique idea that dominated the affair, forming the keynote to the happiness and success of the undertaking. And no happier or more enthusiastic party met that night around a table, marked with the state pennant, than did the fifty or more from Ohio, who now make their homes in Glendale.

Sanitarium Opening Will Mark Epoch In History Of Glendale Adventists

When the new Glendale Sanitarium is opened with appropriate exercises on Sunday, March 23, it will be a new epoch in the history of the institution and also of the city of Glendale, according to the program committee that is now working earnestly on the details for the afternoon's entertainment.

Physicians from medical institutions in many parts of California will be present, as will physicians in private practice in Los Angeles, Glendale, San Bernardino, Riverside, Redlands, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Whittier, Pasadena, Fullerton, Ocean Park, Santa Barbara, Ventura, San Luis Obispo, Venice and other places in Southern California.

Invitations are to be sent broadcast over the state to members of the medical profession, to Chambers of Commerce, business men's clubs, bankers, lawyers and other professional men asking them to attend the ceremonies on that day.

Clergymen from San Francisco, Oakland, Lodi, Fresno, San Diego, Mountain View, San Jose, points in Arizona, Nevada, Utah, and practically all the cities in Southern California have already accepted invitations to be present. Rev. W. Milton Adams, of Los Angeles, who is the chairman of the sanitarium board, said yesterday that he has been assured that many automobile loads of clergymen from various parts of the state to whom he has extended invitations will come, and the trains on the Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads will bring others.

Editors Invited

Editors of the newspapers throughout the state will also be asked to attend. The entire delegation in attendance at the quadrennial session of the Pacific Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, which will be held in Fresno, March 11 to 20, has been asked to come here for the ceremonies at the close of the session instead of returning to their respective churches and conferences. The larger majority of clergymen throughout the Pacific Union Conference territory will be present at the Fresno session, and so will a number from the world's General Conference of the denomination in Washington, D. C., who will be invited.

Efforts are now being made to get Rev. W. A. Spicer, of Washington, D. C., who is the president of the General Conference of Adventists, to come and make one of the principal speeches. As the executive head of the denomination throughout the world, Rev. Mr. Spicer is to the Adventists what a presiding bishop is to other churches, and Chairman Adams, of the Sanitarium board, has sent him an urgent telegram saying it was the unanimous vote of the program committee that he make one of the addresses on the opening day.

Another speaker will be Dr. Newton Evans, president of the College of Medical Evangelists, located at Loma Linda, which is said to be the only medical-missionary college in the United States. Members of the board said that young men are not only taught the practice of medicine at this institution, according to Class A standards, but are also inculcated with the missionary spirit, and it has representatives in China, Japan, India, Africa and many other parts of the world who are supplying relief to thousands of disease-stricken persons, in localities where trained physicians are few and far between. The College of Medical Evangelists, it was said by members of the board, is represented on the medical staff of the new sanitarium.

Mrs. D. D. Harris, superintendent of nurses, has been asked to arrange that part of the program in which the nurses of the institution will have a part. She said that it is her idea to have as many nurses present as can be spared

Barber Comes to Glendale Where Prosperity Reigns, Stroller Learns

By THE STROLLER
Written for The Evening News.

There are lessons to be learned at every turn of life's road if you are a ready listener. Take, for instance, the barber—not a news source, perhaps, but a gossipy challenger of human interest. Where he comes from, how he is getting along—all of that is food for thought as he wields the razor.

One Glendale barber—no need telling his name—arrived here just a year ago from New York state. He had been sick, so had his family. And they were recovering from an automobile accident when the doctor advised them their best move was to California.

Arrive with 70 Cents

That meant a transcontinental motor tour in their machine, tiresome, tedious days of nothing to do but drive on and on toward the end of the rainbow. With just 70 cents in his pocket the barber got to Glendale, the fastest growing city in the land of promise. He commenced work on St. Patrick's day. It must have been a lucky day for him.

For in the last year he has recovered his health, earned a good living and saved $900, which he has invested in real estate. This he is holding for $1500—and undoubtedly he will get it. And does he love Glendale—"we'll say he do."

Going from the more or less sublime to the ridiculous consider the case of a young man who is well known among the merchants as the manager of The Glendale Shopping News. He offered to take the publisher of The Glendale Evening News home the other night.

Yes, he had parked his car on Broadway and arriving at the spot they found a new flivver—just like the one which had been left there earlier in the evening. But the key wouldn't work and the Karr Shows Growth Of Baldwin Shirt Co.

At a salesmen's meeting held Saturday afternoon in the factory of the Baldwin Shirt company, 1725 South Brand boulevard, it was brought out that the present business is more than double that of a year ago.

George B. Karr, president of the company, presided at the meeting, which was attended by twelve salesmen and executives of the Baldwin Shirt company, headed by R. W. Dick, manager of the company.

Today, Mr. Karr reports, fifteen employes work in the factory and there are seven salesmen on the road, a total personnel of twenty-two.

Much equipment has recently been added, the meeting disclosed, and more is on the way. Commensurate with the growth of Glendale has been the growth of the Baldwin Shirt company, is the way Mr. Karr sums it up.

Many Crashes Occur On Slippery Streets

Many accidents were reported to the police yesterday as the result of slippery streets incident to the first real rain in many months and the heavy week-end traffic.

Only one, however, resulted in personal injury. Hugh McClellan, of 517 West Dryden street, reported yesterday afternoon that his machine had struck Miss Charlotte Deroy of 200-A North Louise street at the corner of Wilson avenue and Louise street. He carried her to her home in his machine, where medical aid was summoned. Her injuries were not serious, he reported.

Many cars were smashed on Sunday, but in every case the occupants escaped without injury.

Woman Injured When Auto Hits P. E. Train

Reversing the usual order of things, G. N. Stanton of 839 East Tenth street, Burbank, drove his Ford into a Pacific Electric car at the Grand View crossing shortly before midnight Saturday.

Mrs. Stanton, who was riding with him at the time, was cut around the head and body. She was placed on the street car and rushed to the corner of Brand and Broadway, where an ambulance met her and took her to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital. Later, Mr. Stanton was also taken there, although his injuries were of a very minor character. According to the reading of the reports at police headquarters, there is no blame attached to Motorman E. B. Ellsworth.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 3.—Solve the eternal triangle by allowing the trio to live together!

This, in brief, is the plan proposed by Charles Webber, who was arrested here the other day on a charge of bigamy. Webber was arrested on complaint of J. Tuttle, of New Orleans, who charged that Webber disappeared with his wife, later marrying her in Atlanta.

"I trailed them to Atlanta," said Tuttle, "and found them living together here, having been married some weeks ago. We were happy until Webber came to board with us in New Orleans. Now everything is dark and miserable. I am ready to forgive my wife in spite of all she has done, but I intend to see that justice is administered to Webber."

Here is Webber's story of the triangular love affair:

"I came to Atlanta and saw Mrs. Tuttle here. I was in love with her and she loved me. Someone suggested we get married, since we loved each other, and we were married. She loves me and not Tuttle. The easiest way out of it would be for all of us to live together. Tuttle, if he loves his wife, could make that sacrifice for her happiness."

Georgia is perhaps the foremost state in proposing memorials to the name of Woodrow Wilson, a son of the Old South, who spent much time in Georgia during his life. Wilson attended school in Augusta, Ga., and later practiced law in this state. His first wife was buried at Rome, Ga.

The first project instigated memoralizing the name of Wilson was that of establishing an educational institution in Valdosta, Ga., to be known as the Woodrow Wilson Memorial College. Valdosta citizens have pledged upwards of $900,000 to this proposed institution. Smaller contributions have been subscribed by cities surrounding Valdosta. Governor Clifford Walker has assured those back of the project of his good will, and members of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce have promised their support.

The project was given a marked boost the other day when it was learned that people outside of Georgia also are interested in the undertaking. Two prominent New Jersey business men, Milford Crane and Corbett Fisher, wired Fred Nolan, a mutual friend who lives in Valdosta that they wanted to make substantial contributions to the proposed college.

The committee in charge of the project consists of W. D. Peeples, Mayor of Valdosta; J. M. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and A. J. Strickland, a prominent citizen of Valdosta.

Now comes word of Wilson memorial activities in another Georgia city. Some 2000 people at Rome, Ga., got together the other day and unanimously agreed to work together in the interest of a national Wilson memorial. They proposed a national peace memorial at Washington, to be built by contributions of not more than one dollar each from the millions of admirers of Woodrow Wilson. Contributors to this fund are not to be limited to America alone, it was stated, but will extend to every peace-loving nation in the world.

The meeting was held under the leadership of the American Legion. An outline of the proposal adopted was wired to Dr. Carey Grayson, personal friend and physician of the late president, together with the initial dollar to start the fund rolling.

With the Georgia presidential primary only about a month off, the political pot began to sizzle with considerable interest this week. Three candidates at least will enter the Georgia primary, which is to be held March 19. William Gibbs McAdoo, Senator James A. Reed and Senator Oscar W. Underwood already have set up headquarters in Atlanta, and their respective supporters are active at various points.

McAdoo clubs have been organized throughout the state. Senator Underwood is laying particular stress on the organization of Georgia women. Senator Reed was scheduled to arrive here the latter part of February to "stump" the state in the interest of his candidacy. Managers of each candidate are claiming they will "sweep the state," cinching all of Georgia's twenty-eight votes for the National Democratic Convention.

Two issues will play an important part in the Georgia primary, it appeared this week—the oil scandal and the leasing of Muscle Shoals. The candidate's stand on the Ku Klux Klan will be a side issue with many Georgia voters. All in all, the campaign in Georgia this year promises to be one of the most spirited in years, featured by "heaps" of scandal, according to opinions expressed in Georgia political circles.

HUDSON MAXIM

Declaring that "coffee is booze," Hudson Maxim, scientist and inventor, has threatened organized "war" on tea and coffee shops.

HUDSON MAXIM

He is a man from Maine. He was born in Orneville, in that state February 3, 1853. In his youth he was engaged in printing and publishing business in Pittsfield, Mass.

He had always been interested in such things and in 1888 he took up the business of ordinance and explosives. He was the first person in the United States to make smokeless powder and the first to submit samples to the government for trial. In 1890 he built at Maxim, New Jersey (the town was named after him), a dynamite factory and smokeless powder mill. Seven years later he sold his smokeless powder inventions to E. I. Du Pont de Nemours Co., Wilmington, Delaware, and became consuting engineer and expert in the development department of that company.

He is the inventor of "Maximite," the first high explosive to be fired through heavy armour plate, "motorite," a new self-combustive material for driving automobile torpedoes, as well as many improvements in smokeless powder.

"The Science of Poetry and the Philosophy of Language," "Defenseless America," and "Dynamite Stories" are among the works of which he is author.

WEB FEET KEEP SWIMMER AFLOAT

Ohio Barber's Invention Prevents Sinking

S. G. Stevenson and a drawing showing how he used his "web feet" for walking in water

ELYRIA, Ohio, March 3.—Sink or swim, the saying goes, but S. G. Stevenson, an Elyria barber, decided there wasn't any use doing either. He bought some sateen and unbleached muslin, sewed them together and accomplished, he says, what men have been trying to do for centuries—walk on water.

The device, when fastened to the pedal extremities, gives an impression of web feet, and is calculated to enable a person to walk along in the water and not go deeper than the armpits.

His invention is simple, consisting of three thicknesses of sateen about six inches in diameter bound with unbleached cotton. The device extends several inches beyond the end of the toes, and that part is perfectly flat, being composed of only the three thicknesses of sateen.

The invention is the result of eight years of work and thought by Stevenson, who designed eighty-four varieties of webs in an endeavor to get one to work successfully.

The patent is registered under the names of Stevenson and Charles Waldron. Waldron is the mechanic who made the device under the direction of the inventor. He is also an Elyria man.

"I first got the idea from sitting on the shore and watching a fat man trying to float," Stevenson says. "It occurred to me that if something light could be attached to his feet and give more surface for resistance there would be no reason why the man could not walk through the water, so I started to work."

Timely Views on World Topics

"FOCH ALONE WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR HALTING DRIVE TO BERLIN," SAYS GENERAL ALLEN

The responsibility for the American and allied armies stopping at the positions they did instead of driving on to Berlin rested with Marshal Ferdinand Foch, declared Major General Henry T. Allen, former commander of the American Army of Occupation, in a recent speech.

Maj.-Gen. ALLEN

General Allen declared that he learned the fact from a talk that he had with Marshal Foch recently in a visit to Paris and from a conversation with Sir William Robertson, who commanded the British Army of Occupation. He said that before the signing of the armistics Marshal Foch held a conference with Marshal Petain, General Haig and General Pershing. According to General Allen the French high commander asked Haig first for his views as to how far forward the allied forces should continue, and Haig said that there has been sufficient sacrifice of men and that the Germans were routed. When General Pershing was asked his views, he said:

"It is my opinion that I defer that decision to you as you must live as their neighbor."

Petain said to Marshal Foch: "We have got them on the run—let us make the defeat more decisive."

Marshal Foch, said General Allen, then dismissed his conferees and made his own decision. General Allen said that General Robertson told him in London recently of the conference that Foch had called. He said that in his last visit to Paris he called on Foch and asked the reason why the drive had not been continued on to Berlin.

"I said to Marshal Foch," said General Allen, "that we made a mistake in not going to Berlin. Foch said to me that if we had your army and your resources our army would not yet be demobilized. He took out a map and showed me the Rhine and all the territory between there and Berlin. There would be a big responsibility, he said, in holding Hanover and all those cities. There was the answer from the responsible agent why we did not go on to Berlin.

"There is a little piece of unwritten history," he added. "My troops at the time of the armistice were father into Germany than any," he concluded.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND SAMMIE'S SNOW BOY

"What are you going to do, Sammie?" asked Uncle Wiggily of his little rabbit nephew one day. For Sammie was very busy out in the field, hopping around in the snow.

"I'm going to make a snow boy," answered Sammie, trying to twinkle his pink nose as he had seen Uncle Wiggily do.

"A snow boy!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "Don't you mean a snow man, Sammie?"

"No, sir!" answered the little rabbit chap. "I'm going to make a snow boy, and then I'm going to stick long, sharp icicles in him and throw snow balls at him!"

"My gracious, Sammie! Why are you going to do such things as that?" the rabbit gentleman wanted to know. "What has a snow boy ever done that makes you want to stick icicles in him and throw snowballs.

"The snow boy didn't do anything to me," Sammie answered. "But this morning a real boy chased me and threw stones at me. So I'm going to make believe the snow boy is this real boy, and I'm going to throw things at him and stick him with icicles."

"That will be a very silly thing to do, Sammie," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "In the first place it is foolish to get angry. In the second place, throwing snowballs at a snow boy won't hurt the real boy, nor will the icicles harm him."

"I know that," Sammie answered as he began rolling a big snowball. "But it will make me feel better."

"I doubt that," went on Uncle Wiggily. "Besides, there are very few boys who chase us rabbits, or who try to catch the squirrels, or who tie tin cans to the tails of puppy dogs—very few such boys, indeed, compared to the good boys. I wouldn't make a snow chap and be mean to him, if I were you!"

"Well, I'm going to!" said Sammie, and he kept on until he had made a white image out of snow. It did look a little like a real boy. Then Sammie gathered some long, sharp icicles from the edge of the roof of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow.

Next the rabbit boy made a pile of small, but very hard snowballs, and then he called to Uncle Wiggily:

"Come on now, if you want to see me whang the snow boy and make believe he is the real boy who stoned me. Come on!"

"Well," said Uncle Wiggily, "I still think you are very foolish to do a thing like that, but I'll come and see what happens."

So Uncle Wiggily and Sammie hopped across the lots until they were near the place where the little rabbit chap had made the boy out of snow. A snow boy, you know, is just the same as a snow man, only smaller.

"First I'm going to stick him in the back with a long, sharp icicle," exclaimed Sammie. "I'll make believe it's an Indian spear."

But before Sammie could pick up the long, sharp sliver of ice, there was a noise behind the bushes and Uncle Wiggily whispered:

"Quick, Sammie! Here comes a man and a little boy along the path. This may be the boy who stoned you! Better hide!"

So the big rabbit gentleman and the small rabbit boy hid behind a tree and watched the real man and the real boy who came slowly along a moment later.

"No, that isn't tne boy who stoned me," said Sammie to his uncle.

And just then the boy spied the two rabbits hiding behind the tree.

"Oh, daddy!" he cried. "Look there are two rabbits! I'm going to feed them some carrots!" The boy took from his pockets some slices of yellow carrot and tossed the mon the snow.

"That boy never hurts animals," said Uncle Wiggily, to Sammie. "I think it will be safe for us to hop out and eat those carrots."

And it was, for the boy and his daddy stood there, looking at Sammie and Uncle Wiggily eat, and they never made a move—that boy and his father didn't.

"I love rabbits!" whispered the boy to his father, and Uncle Wiggily heard and understood, though the old rabbit gentleman himself did not not speak boy-talk.

Then the boy and his father walked on. And Sammie said to his uncle:

"I—now—I don't believe I'll stick icicles in that snow boy. And I won't throw snowballs at him."

"I'm glad you aren't going to!" laughed Uncle Wiggily.

But, just then, around hopped the Fuzzy Fox, who wanted to nibble the ears of the rabbits. But Sammie caught up some snowballs, from the pile he had made, and threw them at the Fox. And Uncle Wiggily tickled the bad chap in the ribs with an icicle. So the Fox ran away, howling.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! Oh, wow!"

"Well, anyhow," said Sammie to Mr. Longears, when the Fox was gone. "It's a good thing I made the snowballs and gathered the icicles, isn't it?"

"Yes," agreed the bunny uncle. "It is!"

And if the baked bean doesn't jump out of the oven to see the iceman go to sleep in the coal bin, I'll tell you more about Uncle Wiggily and Susie's scraper.

Diet and Health

PITYRIASIS SIMPLEX CAPITIS

I have had many letters recently asking me to talk on pityriasis simplex capitis. Perhaps you think I am violating my policy for choosing for our column only those subjects that are of general interest. No, I'm not. This disorder is of very great interest. Next to over-weight it probably affects more people than any other disorder, so it is about time that I had an article on it.

First I will tell you, since you may be one of the sufferers, that instead of calling it pityriasis simplex capitis, you call it dandruff.

Now a certain amount of scaling or dandruff is normal. These scales consist of the dead skin from the scalp with, perhaps, a few scales composed of hardened secretions of oil (sebum) from the oil glands connected with each hair. If each day's accumulation is thoroughly brushed and shaken out, the scalp is kept in good condition, the scales will not not become excessive, and dandruff, to the stage of disease, will not follow.

It is surprising how many people there are who are punctilious about the daily cleansing of their bodies, who neglect the daily cleansing of their scalps. Is there anything that detracts more from a well-groomed appearance than having the scalp and shoulders decorated with dandruff scales? It is absolutely unnecessary.

If the scalp is not kept clean by daily care, and each day's cast-off scales are allowed to accumulate, then we have dandruff to the extent that it is more or less of a disease. The scalp skin is irritated, it itches, the scratching adds to the irritation; the oil glands become over-active, and more oil scales, as well as the skin scales, accumulate.

The germs which are always present on the scalp now have conditions which favor their development, and they add to the irritation. There are certain types of germs which are always present in cases of dandruff and it is thought by some skin specialists that these germs are the primary cause of the disorder. It seems to be universally accepted by skin specialists that in one form of dandruff particularly, which I will tell you about later, these germs can be the inciting cause.

Therefore, it is unwise to go to barber or toilet shops that are not scrupulously careful about the cleansing of their brushes and combs. And it is unwise to use the brushes and combs of others.

However, there is no doubt that simple neglect of the scalp will result in the formation of dandruff, in many cases without the possibility of infection from others.

For the daily cleansing of the scalp use — preferably — two brushes. (Feminine brushes should come in pairs like the masculine do.) Take one in each hand and go over the scalp thoroughly with a scrubbing motion until all the scales are loose; then hold your head down and run your hands through your hair and, touching the scalp, beat out the scales. If your hair is long, also grasp the ends in two sections and shake it. After you have all the loose scales out, brush the hair, as well as the scalp, thoroughly. (Heretofore you have been brushing the scalp, probably.) This makes a good arm and chest, as well as scalp, exercise.

This daily or twice daily treatment and the shampoos—for some every week, for others every two weeks—will keep most scalps in good condition. Children should be taught to do this daily brushing of the scalp as emphatically as the daliy brushing of the teeth. While the disease of dandruff in most cases begins at the age of puberty, if this daily care is taught it will not come on.

Tomorrow we will take up the treatment of dandruff which has gone on to the disease state.

Tomorrow—The Treatment of Dandruff

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

ARCTIC HEROINE IN DARKER ROLE

Eskimo Woman Exposed By Explorer Noice

Ada Blackjack (above) and Harold Noice

NEW YORK, March 3.—The roles of a heroine have been stripped from the shoulders of Ada Blackjack, Eskimo woman.

From the Arctic a few months ago came a romantic story of three white men presumably lost on a dash across 100 miles of ice from Wrangel Island to Siberia, of a fourth man who died on the island and of a heroic Eskimo woman, Ada Blackjack, fifth member of the brave little party, who was rescued after two years on the island by a relief expedition headed by Harold Noice, adventurer and Arctic explorer.

Noice has a different story to tell now.

Ada Blackjack, he says, is not the heroine he at first believed her to be. Instead, he explains, she played a mean role in a grim tragedy she could have averted.

Earlier stories, in which Noice himself paid tribute to the woman's courage and faithfulness, were based largely on statements made by her and on parts of a crude diary she kept. Some entries in this record, at last thought to be unreadable, at last have been deciphered by Noice and his wife. These, the explorer says, reveal that Ada refused to aid E. Lorne Knight, a leader of the party, as he lay dying on the island, and that she probably saved her own life on food that would have saved Knight from starvation.

Went to Claim Island

Knight, Allan Crawford of Canada and Milton Galle and Frederick Maurer, Americans, went to the island off the north Siberian coast in the spring of 1921, partly to claim it for Great Britain for possible use as a station on future trans-polar air flights and partly to test the theory of Vilhjalmur Stefansson that men could live off game in the Arctic without elaborate supplies or equipment.

Since the chief need was warm clothing, they took with them Ada Blackjack, who was to be seamstress and cook. But Mrs. Blackjack, whose husband, a great Eskimo hunter, had died, soon revealed she had other ideas. She quickly proposed marriage to Crawford, Noice said, and when repulsed by him remarked that she had left Nome determined to marry one of the four white men.

None could see Mrs. Blackjack as a mate, however, and from that time her co-operation lessened. She gave the group no end of trouble.

At first there was much game, particularly polar bears, but the second winter brought real hardship. The bears failed to appear, food grew more and more scarce. Knight was stricken with scurvy. Despite his illness, however, he and Crawford started a dash toward Siberia, only to be halted and driven back by bitter weather.

A short time later, knowing all would perish without outside aid, Crawford, Galle and Maurer made another attempt to reach Siberia. They never wear heard from and have almost certainly perished.

She Refused to Get Food

Knight lay in his tent, almost wholly dependent on the Eskimo woman for his food. Entries in his diary told of the woman refusing to visit the traps, which were set near the tent, of washing her hair and making beads for herself when Knight asked her to search for game.

Her own diary told of Knight asking her to visit the traps.

"I said notting," she wrote, "because I had notting to say."

When the Noice expedition reached Wrangel Island late last summer, Knight's emaciated body, weighing only ninety pounds, was found in his tent. Mrs. Blackjack was well and fat. The party's original food supply had not run out.

BEAUTY CHATS

by Edna Kent Forbes

BLOWY DAYS

Veils and hair-nets are among the most useful accessories of a woman's toilette. They are also among the most abused. A properly adjusted hair-net may make all the difference in appearance between a well-dressed and a slovenly looking woman, and a veil between smartness and dowdiness.

Hair-nets, properly adjusted, cannot be unbecoming because when so arranged they do not show at all. They simply hold the hair in neatly and keep stray ends from blowing about and do not take away any of the softness of the coiffure. A hair-net is almost a necessity for these windy March days. It is probably most easily adjusted if it is cap-shaped, for then it clings by itself around the edge of the hair, and the small amount left over can easily be concealed under the knot. Straight hair-nets are much harder to adjust because they cannot be made snug round the face and at the same time loose over the fluffy part of the hair. This little point may seem too trivial to bother with, but I assure you it is just as importantt for a woman to know how to adjust a hair-net properly as how to comb her hair becomingly.

Veils are tricky things. They are extraordinarily becoming to some women, others they make look five or ten years older. Yet a veil is almost a necessity if one would look neat on a windy day. The tight little hats that come well down over the face are a fortunate spring fashion, but, alas, hair that blows about the face looks even worse with these small hats than with the large ones. If big veils are not becoming the new little ones will be. These are only a few inches wide, they fasten around the brim of the small hat and barely cover the eyes. They lend piquancy to the expression and they do wonders in holding back the little wisps of hair that otherwise would blow about the face. Besides this they give smartness to any hat.

Fritzie, Nellie C.—An oily scalp usually comes from an abnormal condition of the general system. Faulty elimination is often the cause of oiliness and its correction reacts on the scalp condition. Sun and air baths for scup a scalp help it locally, as will very cold water when used for the final rinse after the shampoo. A hair tonic in which there is an alcohol base will help to eat up the oil, but the cure will only be offered when the trouble is corrected in the system.

A Veil Will Keep You Neat

R. A. R.—Have your doctor advise you about using the eye preparation.

Interested—Massage your forearms using a nourishing oil, which will help to fatten them.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addresed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

A TROUBLED WIFE

Dear. Mrs. Thompson: I am in great trouble. I am a young married woman and have only been married a few months. I married a fellow twelve years my senior. Since the day we were married I have just had trouble. He is mean to me. He won't let me speak to any of my friends on the street, but he speaks to all the girls.

I worked awhile after we were married and he took all my money to buy furniture, but he paid his bills with it. He always wanted things his way and if I didn't do just as he said, he would always say he would leave me.

Now it is worse than ever because I am about to become a mother. He goes out nights and leaves me alone with his mother. We are living in part of a house with his folks. He does just what his mother tells him to do and he doesn't seem to care for me at all. I am in ill health and it just keeps me worrying all the time. If my folks knew they would make me leave him. I did not like this fellow in the first place, but my folks begged me to marry him.

I have lost all my love for him and when he comes home from work I just can't have him near me. What would you do? Lead this kind of life or leave him? Do you think he has lost his love for me, or is it just his way?

LONESOME PEG.

It seems to me the whole trouble started on your side when you consented to marry a man you did not love. It was not playing fair in the first place to marry without love. Now you say that you cannot bear to have your husband come near you. Naturally he is not happy with you and turns to outside resources for his pleasures. Perhaps if you tried to hide your feelings and made an effort to love him, he would respond and would be kinder to you in turn. I would advise you to delay your decision in this matter until after the baby comes. Perhaps then you and your husband will feel closer to each other and can find contentment without separation. Remember that you cannot expect love and consideration unless you give it. If your husband is happy at home he will not be apt to go outside the home for his pleasures. After baby comes do not exclude your husband from the family life. The more you include him in the care of the baby, the closer the three of you will grow in your love. Later on if you find happiness impossible, it will be all right to tell your parents and ask to go home. Before then, however, try harder to work out your problem and find happiness in your marriage.

For Swollen Joints

Most remedies fail but Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's for joint troubles only, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, finger or spine—whether rheumatic or not.

It limbers up stiff, inflamed, painful, creaky joints so quickly you'll be astonished.

Two seconds' rubbing and away it goes through skin and flesh right down to the bone and ligaments—that's why it succeeds. Ask any reliable druggist.—Advertisement.

BURBANK

SCOUTS TO BUILD NOVEL LOG CABIN

Hut Will Be Used as School Of Physical Education and First Aid

A novel building is to be erected on the John Muir grounds. It will be of rustic architecture, 35x40 feet, and will house the Boy Scouts and Pioneer Notchers of that school, in addition to being used for physical education, nature study, hygiene, first aid and similar subjects.

The boys will erect the structure themselves, directed by a carpenter, and the Burbank board of education will finance the project, which it is understood will not cost over $1000, owing to the labor being in the main supplied gratis.

A six-foot fireplace will be a feature of the "cabin," as it will probably be called. Work will start as soon as plans now in the office of Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, can be approved.

To Show Local Film

L. C. Robinson of Los Angeles, who, like many another venturesome person has fitted up one of those auto-Pullmans that is, in fact a home on wheels, has offered to show a print of "The Romance of Burbank" in his lectures, provided he can obtain one without cost to himself.

It appears that Mr. Robinson and son will shortly set out "for the ways beyond," on a two-year trip around the United States. If the Chamber of Commerce decides the advertising value is worth the cost of making a free print for Mr. Robinson, they will do so.

Ten songs is the total crop turned in by local birds, in $25 contest for a local anthem. The contest is now closed, states F. S. Webster, city clerk, and the judges will go to their task of finding the winner.

Builds Big Garage

M. Pastroni claims he is building the biggest garage in Burbank. The structure, he says, will be 100x120 feet in dimensions and will be built of cobble stones to harmonize with the service station, which is practically complete. The building will front on San Fernando boulevard just west of the service station. Farley & Farley have been awarded the contract for this garage and it is expected to begin work on the structure early in March.

Mr. Pastroni is also finishing his camp court, which has for a complete title "The Pastroni Cabin Court Camping Grounds." There are twenty-eight cabins, each 12x18 feet in size, fronting on a court, with fourteen on each side. Each cabin contains two rooms and toilet, and is fitted out with electric lights, water and a small gas stove.

KERR BROS. END CHURCH REVIVAL

Closing Service Is Held at First Methodist Last Night, Many Join

The "Kingdom Kampaign" conducted by the Kerr brothers at the First Methodist church closed with the services yesterday. A large congregation was present at both the morning and evening services. An unusual spectacle was presented at the morning service, when two large groups went to the altar as candidates for membership. In all, 113 persons were received into membership. The Kerr brothers will leave here on Tuesday for Rialto and from there will go to Colton to conduct similar services.

At the evening service Rev. H. W. Kerr delivered a stirring evangelistic sermon from the scripture found in Revelations 22:17, "And the spirit and the bride say come, and let him that heareth come, and he that is athirst come, and whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely."

"There are 3200 promises in the word of God, all of them exceedingly great and precious," Rev. Kerr said. "If anyone were to ask which is the greatest I would answer that I do not know, but I will say this, that my text is a great invitation with a promise attached.

Workers Are Praised

"There are two things I am going to assume: First, that man is away from God, dying of thirst; second, that God alone can satisfy man. The world with all its pleasures and honors can never give heart peace. Perfect satisfaction can be found alone in Christ. We are all invited."

Before the close of the service, Dr. H. I. Rasmus voiced the appreciation of the congregation for the work of the Kerr brothers during the entire month. He also expressed his thanks to Dr. Collins, the choir, officials, members and the Glendale papers for their loyal support.

EAT MORE MEAT

Meat eating is on the increase in Japan, and as a result a proposal has been made to turn Kokkaido Island into a cattle raising land. The climate on the island is similar to that of North America, and there are 7,000,000 arable acres. The government proposes to cultivate 3,500,000 acres and turn 2,500,000 acres to pasturage. It is probable cold storage works will be built on the island.

EAGLE ROCK

EDUCATORS START INSPECTION TRIP

Head of Occidental College And Others Will Tour States on Coast

President and Mrs. Ramsen du Bois Bird of Occidental have left on an extended trip along the Pacific coast, accompanied by William Meade Orr of Alhambra and Mr. and Mrs. William Benson and Miss Jane Benson of Passaic, N. J.

Their purpose is to study recently constructed college dormitories in other institutions, with a view to selecting the best type of structure to erect at Occidental college, for the women students, with the $400,000 William Meade Orr has pledged as a memorial fund.

Mr. Orr has made available $150,000 of this sum for immediate construction, as a women's dormitory is understood to be much needed at Occidental college. While in San Francisco the party will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Aimer M. Newhall, the former a member of the Occidental board of trustees.

The party will also be entertained by William Mayo Newhall, president of the board of directors of Stanford university, and A. W. Foster, president of the board of regents of the University of California, at Berkeley.

The women's dormitory at Occidental college will be carefully planned, it is the intention of President Bird and Mr. Orr. Not only will the new building be used to house resident women students, but it will be a campus social center, is the plan.

There will be a dining hall, outdoor tennis court and possibly a swimming pool. Work will be started in time to have the first unit ready for the opening of the fall term, in September.

School of "Oral Art"

Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer has established what she terms a "School of Oral Art" at her 5053 Glen Iris avenue studio and is confident that this new development of the cultural spirit abroad in Eagle Rock will meet with a sufficient response to enable her to continue her work.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Fischer has been active in dramatics in Eagle Rock for two years, as director of the local Community Players organization, which put on some excellent things and won the appreciation of the entire community.

Three years prior to coming to Engle Rock Mrs. Fischer was director of the oral arts department of Lombard college, Galesburg, Ill. Here she taught all branches of public speaking, expression, oratory and drama.

Mrs. Fischer is a diamond medal graduate of the Chicago Musical college dramatic art department, and has studied with many prominent teachers. She is a member of the Drama League of America, Pasadena center, and recently appeared before that organization to read Dunsany's "The Gods of the Mountain."

COLE TELLS NEED FOR CONVICTIONS

Loyalty to Christ Essential In Modern Life, Is Pastor's Claim

That the need for convictions and personal decisions is as great today as it was when Christ was on earth was declared by Rev. Clifford A. Cole, in his morning sermon at the Central Christian church yesterday.

"A man isn't worth much to a community or a church," he said, "unless he has convictions on things. One of the weaknesses of mankind has been that the majority of us lives a sort of second-hand existence, taking our cue from others, afraid to stand up and be counted as having convictions of our own. These are days when we ought to face issues like God's men; alive, willing, praying, giving like Christ gave, brooking no slackers, not ashamed to come out into the open for God and the church.

"Jesus Christ came to a time in his ministry when he asked his disciples to stand up and be counted. Somewhere in Galilee in a prayer-meeting he broaches the question, 'Whom say ye that I am? You've said that the crowds are divided, some saying one thing and some another. It grieves me that they do not all speak with one voice. But let that be as it may, what do you say about it?' He makes the question of loyalty direct and personal, the conviction individual. He now gives them opportunity to go on with him or to go back with the crowd. The time for action had come.

Foundation of Church

"Peter, speaking for the rest, and for himself, makes the statement that we sometimes call the Great Confession, 'Thou are the Christ, the Son of the Living God.' It is upon the fact of this statement that the church is built. It is the center and power of the Christian faith. When a man confesses that Christ is the Son of God he testifies to his belief in his diety; he confesses the whole system of which Christ is the center and head. And, 'with the heart man believeth unto righteousness and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.' We've taken the position in the church that one who has not come out into the open and committed himself to Jesus Christ is none of his. He surely is not counted for Christ till he has avowed his allegiance by an act. Till a man confesses, he never truly honors his Lord, and his life is a living testimony against him. A man never confidently believes till he confesses."

MONTROSE

PLAN MERGER OF FOOTHILL TOWNS

La Crescenta, Montrose and La Canada to Oppose Annexation

Moved by the instinct of self-preservation, the oldest urge of mankind, the citizens of the communities of Montrose, La Crescenta and La Canada are banding together in an effort to incorporate the three towns into a city of the sixth class and forestall any efforts that might be made to annex all or any part of the territory to a larger city.

A few weeks ago the original move to incorporate the communities was dropped when a vigorous opposing element was encountered in the La Crescenta district, as represented by the La Crescenta Improvement Association. Late developments indicate that this opposition has been overcome by the fear that the valley communities may become separated and their individualities lost in that of a larger city or by other means. This development has been rapid since the foundation of another town in the west end of the valley, namely Verdugo City, which was so named and started on its career this month through the efforts of H. N. Fowler, an owner of large properties in the center of the new community.

Speakers Express Views

The Montrose Chamber of Commerce went on record at a special meeting as unanimously in favor of incorporation.

Speakers from both Montrose and La Crescenta expressed the belief that the division of the valley into small sections would have a tendency to weaken the standing and influence of the territory as a whole. The "United We Stand; Divided We Fall" spirit was very much in evidence.

President Brown of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce said that "instead of two communities it seems there has been a third thrust upon us in the formation of a new community to the immediate west of us."

Mark Collins of La Crescenta, formerly opposed to incorporation, declared that he believed the time has come to unite the communities in incorporation to insure against any part of them being annexed by larger cities. He also foretold the building of a beautiful city, stretching solidly the length of the La Crescenta valley.

Maps To Show Area

Attorney William H. Irons of Montrose believes that the majority of residents in the valley favor a closer bond of unity than now exists. According to Mr. Irons, maps are being prepared which will give the boundaries of the area it is proposed to incorporate.

Signers are still being secured for membership in the Montrose-La Crescenta Anti-Annexation Association. Formal organization will be made when the roll numbers 200 names.

The next meeting of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday night, March 4, in the Montrose school auditorium. It is expected that the committee appointed to gather complete information on the incorporation situation will report its findings. Fire protection is also scheduled for discussion and planning, as well as the formation of a water district.

Shares to Advance

Directors of the La Crescenta Mutual Water Company are considering an advance in the price of water shares in the company from $50 to $100. No definite plans have been announced as adopted for the formation of a water district.

Phonographs, pianos, records and sheet music are carried by the new music store opened at 817 Montrose avenue by R. W. Dilley, formerly of Glendale. Mr. Dilley formerly was a teacher of music in the northwest.

An entertainment and dance is being planned for March 8 by the Verdugo Hills post of the American Legion, to be given in the Sparr Heights Community House. Included in the plans are vaudeville numbers, musical numbers and dancing.

Comedy Is Rife Amid Audience at Frolic

All comedy at Friday night's "faculty frolic" in the auditorium of the Broadway High school was not confined to the stage side of the footlights. Either luck or some other wit provided Vice-Principal A. L. Ferguson and Mrs. Ferguson with tickets on opposite sides of the aisle running down the center of the orchestra, from which positions they signalled their approval to one another as the evening progressed.

Principal George U. Moyse and Mrs. Moyse were more fortunate. They managed to get seats together with their daughter, Miss Laura Moyse, and enjoyed the show immensely, training opera glasses from time to time on the players, who stood up well under the scrutiny, judging from the broad smiles on the faces of the Moyse family.

from their duties dressed in full uniform, and the members of the alumnae association will be invited to attend also in their white uniforms. Mrs. Harris plans to have the nurses attend in a body, so that their presence will be a conspicuous feature.

Governor May Come

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce will do its best to get Governor Richardson to attend, and make the principal address. The members of the board are hoping that the chamber will be successful in inducing him to be present.

A committee consisting of C. E. Kimlin, W. F. Martin and A. T. Hopmann was appointed to designate a suitable place about the grounds where the ceremonies should be held, and make proper arrangements for the building of stands, and so forth. In a preliminary inspection, the committee studied the proposition of having the ceremonies at the front entrance to the institution, with the speakers located on the roof of the porch, and tests were made as to the question of the speakers being heard. It was found that the wall of the building served as a very good sounding board, and thousands of people could hear.

Another inspection was made in the grove of oak trees near the entrance to the grounds, and the suggestion was made that the trees would furnish shade from the beating rays of the sun, stands could be erected with amplifiers adjusted, so that thousands of persons occupying the slopes under the trees could appreciate the speeches, and other features of the program. It was decided to wait until more careful study could be made before selecting the place where the ceremonies should be held.

"A valid debt proved to be worthelss is not always a proper deduction.
